ARMED ACTION WAITS AUTHORITY OF CONGRESS.

Asked to Permit Use of Army and Navy to Uphold Nation's Honor.

Leaders in Both Houses Prepared to Stand Squarely Behind the President.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Armed action by the United States against that part of Mexico controlled by the Huerta government waits only for for the authority of Congress, about to be asked by President Wilson. The pacific policy of the Wilson administration toward the Mexican dictator was abandoned last night at 6 o'clock, when the President's ultimatum expired, with Huerta still flatly refusing to salute the Stars and Stripes in reparation for the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon President Wilson apapeared before the two Houses of Congress, and read a message asking for authority to use the army and navy to uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

Sunday morning Secretary Bryan received two messages from Mexico City, both from Charge O'Shaughnessy. The first was merely formal, stating that the message of President Wilson, giving Huerta until 6 o'clock to yield, had been communicated to Portillo y Rojas, the minister for foreign affairs, and that a reply would follow.

The second despatch was in the nature of a reply, although the officials quickly perceived it was not clearly responsive and definite as to the demands by this government, but raised a new issue as to the United States agreeing in writing to return the Huerta salute

Mr. Bryans summarized the Huerta reply in a telegram to the President at White Sulphur Springs, and soon thereafter held a long-distance conference with the President, going over the points Huerta had raised.

While the reply was considered favorable in its general purport as to saluting the American flag, yet it again parleyed over details and conditions. As a result of the long-distance talk, Mr. Bryan dispatched a further message to Mexico City, making it plain that President Wilson would listen to no counter-proposals or suggestions, but must have an unequivocal acceptance of the American demand at the time stated—6 o'clock.

Later it became known that the messages showed that Huerta was not raising objection to the salute itself, but as to the details under which the salute would be returned The main condition was that the United States agree in writing that the salute be fired, instead of relying on the assurance given by Admiral Mayo for a return salute. This was construed by officials as a wily move on Huerta's part to obtain an assurance direct from the American government which would be capable of being construed by him as a recognition of the de facto Mexican government.

There was no disposition on the part of the officials to give any assurances or to prolong the discussion as to details They were determined, after consulting with President Wilson, to hold to the one concrete question of Huerta's yielding to the American demand as it had been submitted.

The reply to Huerta made clear to him that a "yes" or "no" to the American demand was all that remained for him, and that nothing that was to be done would bear the construction of a recognition of the Huerta regime.

Early today, President Wilson, returning to Washington from a week-end trip to White Sulphur Springs, W Va, prepared a message to be delivered personally to Congress a few hours later, presenting the situation and asking for authority to use the army and navy to uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

As the President and Mrs Wilson passed through the station to a White House automobile early travelers gave Mr Wilson an enthusiastic demonstration of cheers and applause, which the President acknowledged with a smile No officials were at the station to [illegible] the President A heavy rain [illegible] is he hurried off to the White House

Shortly after 9 o'clock Secretary Bryan arrived at the White House and went into conference with President Wilson in the latter's study There was no new development up to that time

President Wilson had outlined his message last night, while traveling and after going over a first draft with the Secretary of State, submitted it to the cabinet

House and Senate leaders were early at the White House to learn the details of the President's plans, that they might prepare the necessary resolutions putting Congress squarely behind the President and giving him full authority to act

While the President's plans were not officially disclosed, it was conceded in official circles that he would ask Congress to authorize what are known in international law as "measures short of war" which, while not being a declaration of war on the part of the United States, might so be construed by Huerta

According to best informed officials these would consist of the following:

1—Seizure of the ports of Tampico and Vera Cruz

2—Seizure of the Mexican gunboats in those waters

3—Seizure of the railroad from Vera Cruz to the Mexican capital, to a point including a trestle 20 miles west of Vera Cruz, to prevent the route to the Mexican capital being blocked

4—Probably a request for a special appropriation to carry out those measures

This latter point, however, was not definite early today.

Secretary Garrison announced that Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, would command the American forces should it finally become necessary to use them.

In the naval establishment everything was in preparedness for action Few orders remained to be given Secretary Daniels was early at his desk, scanning over-night reports of the movement of the fleets steaming to both coasts of Mexico

Admiral Badger's ships will be at Tampico early Wednesday, according to latest conditions.

Cabinet members began arriving at the White House before the hour set for the meeting, with the result that the session began before the appointed hour All other callers were turned away.

Secretary Garrison said no orders had been issued for any movement of troops.

General Wood's four-year detail as chief of staff of the army will expire next Wednesday. He probably will leave immediately for Texas City, where the Second army division has been mobilized for the last 14 months

The only suspicion of a break in the silence between Washington and Mexico City came during the forenoon, when Charge Algara carried a communication to Secretary Bryan. The charge said he considered it was somewhat different from the proposition which was refused last night, but Secretary Bryan declared it was the same as that forwarded by Charge O'Shaughnessy and could not be accepted Mr Algara telegraphed to the Mexican foreign minister, Senor Portillo y Rojas, that Mr Bryan had received his communication "with no encouragement."

Officials who knew of Mr. Algara's message said it might be construed as a proposal to eliminate the written guarantee for a return salute by the United States, which Huerta demanded early yesterday, but State Department officials evidently did not accept it as of such import. Huerta' telegram to President Taft February 18, 1913, was given out again at the White House today and officials declared that its words had a significant bearing on the present situation it follows.

"I have the honor to inform you that I have overthrown this government, the forces are with me, and from now on peace and prosperity will reign

"your obedient servant,

"Victoriano Huerta
"Commander-in-chief"

PENSACOLA, Florida, April 20.—Orders were received early today directing the flotilla of 20 torpedo destroyers here to put to sea this afternoon, meeting Rear Admiral Badger's fleet in the gulf and accompanying it to Tampico Officers said the destroyers, with two tenders, were ready to depart

Battleship Mississippi today took on board 500 marines It was said she would sail for Tampico, in accordance with previously announced orders, early tomorrow With her will go scout cruiser Birmingham, carrying four navy hydro-aeroplanes

It was announced that the Birmingham, the fastest cruiser of her class in the navy, would make an effort to reach Tampico before any hostilities break out, so that her air craft may be used in directing any operations in the surrounding country

Final orders were for the torpedo flotilla to wait here until ordered to sea by Rear Admiral Badger A heavy electrical storm, however, prevented the use of the wireless for communication with flagship Arkansas The Mississippi and the Birmingham will be accompanied by tender Dixie

MARATHON WON BY DUFFY, THE FAVORITE.

Canadian Takes Race Nearly Four Minutes Behind Record.

Fabre, Also of Canada, Finishes Fifteen Seconds Later.

BOSTON, April 20—The favorite, James Duffy of the Ramblers' Bicycle Club of Hamilton, Ontario won the eighteenth Marathon race of the Boston Athletic Association today His time was 2 hours, 25 minutes, 1 second, compared with the time established by M J Ryan two years ago of 2 hours 21 minutes, 18 1-5 seconds.

Edward Fabre of the Richmond Club Montreal, was second, by 15 seconds.

Showers were threatened as the 83 entrants made their preparations for the start at noon The course, as in previous years, was from Ashland, 25 miles southwest of this city, to the association's clubhouse on Exeter street. The light air stirring was at the backs of the runners, and as the roads were dry and hard and the field of contestants was of high class, the [illegible] arter of a million spectators who gathered along the route looked for new records for some of the legs of the course, if not for the entire distance

The record for the course is two hours, 21 minutes, 18 1-5 seconds, made by Michael Ryan in 1912 Fritz Carlson of Minneapolis, last years winner, was out today in an effort to repeat his performance Among his most formidable competitors were James Duffy of Hamilton, Ontario, Edward Fabre of Montreal, who finished fifth last year and third in 1911; Joseph M. L Jordan of Cambridge, winner of last year's Brockton Marathon, and Festus M. Madden of South Boston, among the leaders in several renewals of the Boston event

Dark clouds were rolling up from the southwest and a gentle breeze was blowing down the course as the runners gathered about Referee James E Sullivan secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, and Chief Amas A J Lill, president of the national organization for instructions The men were urged to take plenty of room after the first mile and not to crowd in overtaking competitors The overcast sky was a relief to many of the veterans, who in previous years had been troubled by the glare. After being photographed, outer clothing was thrown aside and half a minute before noon the runners toed the line

Congress Will Do Whatever the President Asks of It.

WASHINGTON, April 20—The House, upon assembling, immediately and unanimously passed a concurrent resolution for the joint session with the Senate at 3 p m

The Senate without debate adopted the House resolution for a 3 o'clock session

A bill to appropriate $50,000,000 to be expended by the President was introduced by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, to which the bill was referred It provides

"That the President of the United States be and he is hereby authorized to expend in his discretion for the national defenses and for each and every purpose connected therewith the sum of $50,000,000 out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, which sum shall remain available until expended"

Speaker Clark and Chairman Flood of the foreign affairs committee conferred with Democratic Leader Underwood and arranged that, as soon as the President shall have read his message, the foreign affairs committee shall meet and report immediately a resolution Mr Underwood, after telephoning to the White House, said

"Congress will do whatever the President asks, which probably will be a blockade of the Mexican ports and steps to protect American lives and property"

The cabinet meeting ended shortly after 1 p m "The President will tell the whole story at the Capitol at 3 o'clock, said the Secretaries as they passed out Counselor Lansing of the State Department was taken into the meeting to point out various precedents Cabinet officers said they had discussed the various steps in the situation

It was a solemn and quiet House which voiced a subdued but determined affirmative to the Speaker's question on the resolution for a joint session Grave of face the members stood while Chaplain Couden brought home the situation in his prayer, when he said

"Oh God a question of grave consequence confronts us here today. A crisis which affects thousands of people must be met. Impart to the President, his advisers and the members of this Congress wisdom, courage and fortitude, that they may act in accordance with the highest conceptions of truth and justice and right, so that civilization may be advanced and things which make for peace and righteousness may progress"

Rev. Forest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the Senate, pleaded for "peace with honor" in his invocation "Oh Lord, our God," he said, "do Thou lend Thy aid and Thy blessing that without mistake, with calmness in the right as thou dost give us to see the right, and with charity which is the fulfilling of the law. Thy servants may discharge the sacred duties of their office. Grant us peace with honor and brotherhood with universal justice"

Early today, President Wilson, returning to Washington from a week-end trip to White Sulphur Springs, W. Congress Will Do Whatever the President Asks of It.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The House, upon assembling, immediately and unanimously passed a concurrent resolution for the joint session with the Senate at 5 p. m.

The Senate without debate adopted the House resolution for a 3 o'clock session.

A bill to appropriate $50,000,000 to be expended by the President was introduced by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, to which the bill was referred. It provides:

"That the President of the United States be and he is hereby authorized to expend in his discretion for the national defenses and for each and every purpose connected therewith the sum of $50,000,000 out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, which sum shall remain available until expended."

Speaker Clark and Chairman Flood of the foreign affairs committee conferred with Democratic Leader Underwood and arranged that, as soon as the President shall have read his message, the foreign affairs committee shall meet and report immediately a resolution. Mr. Underwood, after telephoning to the White House, said:

"Congress will do whatever the President asks, which probably will be a blockade of the Mexican ports and steps to protect American lives and property."

The cabinet meeting ended shortly after 1 p. m. "The President will tell the whole story at the Capitol at 3 o'clock," said the Secretaries as they passed out. Counsellor Lansing of the State Department was taken into the meeting to point out various precedents. Cabinet officers said they had discussed the various steps in the situation.

It was a solemn and quiet House which voiced a subdued but determined affirmative to the Speaker's question on the resolution for a joint session. Grave of face, the members stood while Chaplain Couden brought home the situation in his prayer, when he said:

"Oh God, a question of grave consequence confronts us here today. A crisis which affects thousands of people must be met. Impart to the President, his advisers and the members of this Congress wisdom, courage and fortitude, that they may act in accordance with the highest conceptions of truth and justice and right, so that civilization may be advanced and things which make for peace and righteousness may progress."

Rev. Forest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the Senate, pleaded for "peace with honor" in his invocation. "Oh Lord, our God," he said, "do Thou lend Thy aid and Thy blessing, that without mistake, with firmness in the right as thou dost give us to see the right, and with charity which is the fulfilling of the law, Thy servants may discharge the sacred duties of their office. Grant us peace with honor and brotherhood with universal justice."

AMERICAN FLAG NOT FLYING ON THE BOAT.

Mexican Foreign Minister Contends It Was Not Insulted.

Washington's Reply to Huerta's Refusal Awaited With Interest

MEXICO CITY April 20—The Mexican capital awaited with interest today the next word from Washington in reply to the refusal of President Huerta to comply with the demands of the United States, that the Stars and Stripes should be unconditionally saluted at Tampico

All the morning papers published a lengthy statement by the Mexican foreign minister Senor Portillo y Rojas outlining the reasons for the position Huerta had taken up namely that the American flag was not flying on the boat when the bluejackets were arrested on shore at Tampico and that it had therefore not been insulted and compliance with the demand for an unconditional salute would be humiliating to Mexico This statement was followed by Huerta's advice to Mexicans to refrain from demonstrations with the view of not embarrassing possible future negotiations

Many American residents have made preparations to stay in the Mexican capital whatever the outcome of the present crisis unless they are positively ordered to leave by the Mexican authorities They express the belief that they will not be harmed in any eventualities Others are going to Vera Cruz or are making preparations to leave should such a step become necessary or advisable

The foreign minister's statement was as follows

"On the ninth of the present month between 11 and noon a boat without an American flag and with nine marines and one officer landed at a point called the beach of Iturbide in Tampico Colonel Raymond Hinojosa, who has charge of defending that point, detained the marines and officers and conducted them to the presence of the general who had command of the fort, Ignacio Morelos Zaragosa It should be remembered that at this time the port not only was under military control but was withstanding an attack by rebels

"General Zaragosa immediately and without even investigating the case put the marines and officers at liberty, placed Hinojosa in prison and sent an apology to Rear Admiral Mayo the commander of the American fleet

"We thought the incident was closed but unfortunately this was not so, because Mayo sent to him sometime afterward an ultimatum wherein he asked that a second apology be presented to him by the staff of the chief of the fort, General Zaragosa that the American flag be hoisted in a public place in Tampico and saluted by 21 guns and besides the severe punishment of Hinojosa, stipulating that all this be done within 24 hours The time was later extended when diplomatic pourparlers were begun between the sub secretary of foreign affairs the minister being absent at that date and continued until now

"The president of Mexico when informed of the case ordered another investigation of facts and punishment of the guilty officer if it was proved he was blameworthy He also authorized the minister of foreign affairs to express regret on account of the incident When he became aware that the American government supported the request of Rear Admiral Mayo relative to a salute of the American flag which had not been insulted he proposed to show his good will toward the American people though he did not think that such a request was just proposing that the flags of the two nations be hoisted and saluted reciprocally and simultaneously

The American government did not agree with that idea but insisted upon Rear Admiral Mayo's request giving assurance that according to international practice the salute would be returned by American cannon after the salute to the American flag This was not accepted by President Huerta who insisted upon his proposition.

The American government had determined that your parlers be brought to an end by the final decision of President Huerta within a term which expired at 6 o'clock Sunday night announcing that if by that time he had not agreed to the salute of the American flag as requested the affair would be presented to the American Congress for decision

The Mexican government believing the salute in question was of no importance unless previously and formally agreed upon by both parties proposed the signing of a protocol and the minister of foreign affairs presented last night a draft of such protocol to the American charge d'affaires Nelson O'Shaughnessy

O'Shaughnessy answered that he must consult his government that he would advise the minister of the nature of this answer and this afternoon he communicated to the minister the fact that his government [illegible] that the idea of the signature of any protocol while it but wanted an unconditional salute of the American flag

"This the Mexican government refused feeling it had done everything possible in view of the friendly understanding between the two governments and believing the acceptance of such an imposition would be equivalent to yielding by Mexico to humiliation

The Mexican government is confident the civilized world will find that its conduct has been wise and temperate that it has observed all the requirements of international law and the refusal to yield further is inspired only by a regard for its honor and dignity

The draft of the protocol by Mexico refused signature by the United States follows

With a view to putting an end to the lamentable incident which occurred on the ninth instant at Port Tampico caused by the detention of nine men and one American officer considering that such marines were put at liberty by General Zaragosa commander of Port Tampico and that said officer presented an apology to Rear Admiral Mayo commander of the American squadron in those waters that afterwards when the president of the republic of Mexico became advised of the facts he expressed regret through the officer of foreign relations for the incident and ordered that a full investigation be made to the end that the guilty might be punished if any be found guilty and finding the action in question was due to the zealousness of a subaltern which might be regarded as excusable if it is taken into consideration that the marines, when detained had gone ashore in uniform without permission of the military authorities, the port being at the moment not only in a state of war but under attack by rebels, the charge d'affaires of the United States and the minister of foreign relations of Mexico acting in their official capacities agree as follows

First that the Mexican government inspired by a desire of showing the good will it feels toward the people of the United States, and acting in the same manner wherein the United States has done in similar cases binds itself that the American flag be saluted at Tampico by 21 guns from the Mexican shore batteries or a Mexican warship in those waters

Second that the cannon referred to in the preceding article shall be fired at the moment when the American flag shall be hoisted to a mast head on the Mexican shore

"Third that the government of the United States binds itself to salute the Mexican flag immediately following the salute of the Mexicans to the American flag with 21 guns of the man of war Dolphin or of any other man of war Dolphin or of any other

Fourth the guns to which the preceding article refers shall be fired at the moment when the Mexican flag shall be hoisted to the top of a mast of the aforesaid man of war or of any other warship in those waters and to this end [illegible] parties attach [illegible]

This formula [illegible] the government to [illegible] the United States was handed to Nelson O'Shaughnessy the American charge d'affaires at exactly 6 o'clock last evening at the foreign office The charge however had been made aware previously of the nature of the document

Mr O'Shaughnessy had seen Senor Portillo y Rojas late in the afternoon in the suburb of Coyoacan where he had gone to dine with some friends

Provisional President Huerta displayed comparative indifference to the crisis and passed several hours last evening listening to the military band playing in Chapultepec park

Several hundred American residents spent the evening at the American Club where a dinner and entertainment were given

Speed---Accuracy---Economy

These are the three big factors demanded in a typewriter, and all three of these essential factors are combined in a remarkable degree in the

Victor Typewriter

SPEED—Because of its delightful easy action, ball-bearing carriage, and improved, no-spring escapement

ACCURACY—Because of its one-inch pivot-bearing typebar, which not only insures alignment, but has also solved the great problem of durability in a visible typewriter.

ECONOMY—First, because of its ribbon movement, which saves from $4 50 to $6.75 on each machine per year Further, it costs less for up-keep than any typewriter ever produced

AKRON LAND DRAIN TILE.

The "AKRON" is the STRONGEST and BEST tile in use It is VITRIFIED, consequently it will NOT disintegrate by the action of FROST or SOIL. As all familiar with under drainage are aware, the water enters the tile through the JOINTS, and is not, as some imagine, absorbed—to any extent—through the body of the tile itself Water will not flow through even a soft burned piece of tile except under pressure, the ware will absorb the water until the pores are filled, but it will not pass through except it be forced, therefore, as the softer the tile is, the more water it will absorb, and the less durable it is. All Land Tile should be hard burned, and take water from the soil wholly through the joints.

AMERICAN FLAG NOT FLYING ON THE BOAT.

Mexican Foreign Minister Contends It Was Not Insulted.

Washington's Reply to Huerta's Refusal Awaited With Interest.

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—The Mexican capital awaited with interest today the next word from Washington in reply to the refusal of President Huerta to comply with the demands of the United States, that the Stars and Stripes should be unconditionally saluted at Tampico.

All the morning papers published a lengthy statement by the Mexican foreign minister, Senor Pertilloy Rojas, outlining the reasons for the position Huerta had taken up; namely, that the American flag was not flying on the boat when the bluejackets were arrested on shore at Tampico and that it had, therefore, not been insulted, and compliance with the demand for an unconditional salute would be humiliating to Mexico. This statement was followed by Huerta's advice to Mexicans to refrain from demonstrations, with the view of not embarrassing possible future negotiations.

Many American residents have made preparations to stay in the Mexican capital, whatever the outcome of the present crisis, unless they are positively ordered to leave by the Mexican authorities. They express the belief that they will not be harmed in any eventualities. Others are going to Vera Cruz or are making preparations to leave should such a step become necessary or advisable.

The foreign minister's statement was as follows:

"On the ninth of the present month, between 11 and noon, a boat, without an American flag and with nine marines and one officer, landed at a point called the beach of Iturbide in Tampico. Colonel Raymond Hinojosa, who has charge of defending that point, detained the marines and officers and conducted them to the presence of the general who had command of the fort, Ignacio Morelos Zaragosa. It should be remembered that at this time the port not only was under military control, but was withstanding an attack by rebels.

"General Zaragosa immediately, and without even investigating the case, put the marines and officers at liberty, placed Hinojosa in prison and sent an apology to Rear Admiral Mayo, the commander of the American fleet.

"We thought the incident was closed, but unfortunately this was not so, because Mayo sent to him some time afterward an ultimatum wherein he asked that a second apology be presented to him by the staff of the chief of the fort, General Zaragosa, that the American flag be hoisted at a public place in Tampico and saluted by 21 guns, and besides the severe punishment of Hinojosa, stipulating that all this be done within 24 hours. This time was later extended when diplomatic pour parlers were begun between the sub-secretary of foreign affairs, the minister being absent at that date, and continued until now.

"The president of Mexico, when informed of the case, ordered another investigation of facts and punishment of the guilty officer, if it was proved he was blameworthy. He also authorized the minister of foreign affairs to express regret on account of the incident. When he became aware that the American government supported the request of Rear Admiral Mayo relative to a salute of the American flag, which had not been insulted, he proposed to show his good will toward the American people, though he did not think that such a request was just, proposing that the flags of the two nations be hoisted and saluted reciprocally and simultaneously.

"The American government did not agree with that idea, but insisted upon Rear Admiral Mayo's request, giving assurance that, according to international practice, the salute would be returned by American cannon after the salute to the American flag. This was not accepted by President Huerta, who insisted upon his proposition.

"The American government did determined that pour parlers be brought to an end by the final decision of President Huerta within a term, which expired at 6 o'clock Sunday night, announcing that if by that time he had not agreed to the salute of the American flag, as requested, the affair would be presented to the American Congress for decision.

"The Mexican government, believing the salute in question was of no importance unless previously and formally agreed upon by both parties, proposed the signing of a protocol, and the minister of foreign affairs presented last night a draft of such protocol to the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy.

O'Shaughnessy answered that he must consult his government; that he would advise the minister of the nature of this answer, and this afternoon he communicated to the minister the fact that his government did not accept the idea of any signature of any protocol whatever, but wanted an unconditional salute of the American flag.

"This the Mexican government refused, feeling it had done everything possible in view of the friendly understanding between the two governments, and believing the acceptance of such an imposition would be equivalent to yielding by Mexico to humiliation.

"The Mexican government is confident the civilized world will find that its conduct has been wise and temperate; that it has observed all the requirements of international law, and the refusal to yield further is inspired only by a regard for its honor and dignity."

The draft of the protocol by Mexico, refused signature by the United States, follows:

"With a view to putting an end to the lamentable incident which occurred on the ninth instant at Port Tampico, caused by the detention of nine men and one American officer, considering that such marines were not at liberty by General Zaragosa, commander of Port Tampico, and that said officer presented an apology by Rear Admiral Mayo, commander of the American squadron in those waters; that afterwards, when the president of the republic of Mexico became advised of the facts, he expressed regret through the officer of foreign relations for the incident and ordered that a full investigation be made, to the end that the guilty might be punished, if any be found guilty, and finding the action in question was due to the zealousness of a subaltern, which might be regarded as excusable if it is taken into consideration that the marines, when detained, had gone ashore in uniform, without permission of the military authorities, the port being at the moment not only in a state of war but under attack by rebels, the charge d'affaires of the United States, and the minister of foreign relations of Mexico acting in their official capacities, agree as follows:

"First that the Mexican government, inspired by a desire of showing the good will it feels toward the people of the United States, and acting in the same manner wherein the United States has done in similar cases, binds itself that the American flag be saluted at Tampico by 21 guns from the Mexican shore batteries or a Mexican warship in those waters.

"Second, that the cannon referred to in the preceding article shall be fired at the moment when the American flag shall be hoisted to a mast head on the Mexican shore.

"Third, that the government of the United States binds itself to salute the Mexican flag, immediately following the salute of the Mexicans to the American flag, with 21 guns of the man of war Dolphin or of any other man of war Dolphin or of any other man of war Dolphin or of any other man of war Dolphin or of any other man of war Dolphin or of any other

"Fourth, the guns to which the preceding article refers shall be fired at the moment when the Mexican flag shall be hoisted to the top of a mast of the aforesaid man of war or of any other warship in those waters, and to this end both contracting parties attach their signatures.

This formal reply by the Mexican government to the demands of the United States was handed to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, at exactly 6 o'clock last evening at the foreign office. The evening, however, had been made clear previously of the nature of the document.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy had seen Senor Portillo y Rojas late in the afternoon in the suburb of Coyoacan, where he had gone to dine with some friends.

Provisional President Huerta displayed comparative indifference to the crisis and passed several hours last evening listening to the military band playing in Chapultepec park.

Several hundred American residents spent the evening at the American club, where a dinner and entertainment were given.

Speed---Accuracy---Economy

These are the three big factors demanded in a typewriter, and all three of these essential factors are combined in a remarkable degree in the

Victor Typewriter

SPEED—Because of its delightful easy action, ball-bearing carriage, and improved, no-spring escapement.

ACCURACY—Because of its one-inch pivot-bearing typebar, which not only insures alignment, but has also solved the great problem of durability in a visible typewriter.

ECONOMY—First; because of its ribbon movement, which saves from $4.50 to $6.75 on each machine per year. Further, it costs less for up-keep than any typewriter ever produced.

H. R. Howard, wholesale leather dealer, Rochester, N. Y. writes:

"It may be of interest to you to know that in the six years we have had a No. 1 Victor typewriter in constant use, we have never called a repairman, or put a screwdriver in it. The factory serial number is 322.

SIX YEARS WITHOUT REPAIR IS AN UNPARALLELED PROOF OF THE VICTOR'S WONDERFUL ECONOMY.

AKRON LAND DRAIN TILE.

The AKRON is the STRONGEST and BEST tile in use. It is VITRIFIED, consequently it will NOT disintegrate by the action of FROST or SOIL. As all familiar with under drainage are aware, the water enters the tile through the JOINTS, and is not, as some imagine, absorbed—to any extent—through the body of the tile itself. Water will not flow through even a soft burned piece of tile except under pressure; the ware will absorb the water until the pores are filled, but it will not pass through except it be forced; therefore, as the softer the tile is, the more water it will absorb, and the less durable it is. All Land Tile should be hard burned, and take water from the soil wholly through the joints.

MUST USE SIDE SADDLES.

Kaiser Issues Edict Regarding Wives of Army Officers of High Rank.

Once again the Kaiser has stepped forward as the censor of public morality, in much the same way as he upheld the canons of good taste when he forbade officers to visit houses where the tango was danced. The breath of many fair equestriennes was taken away, indeed, when an order, signed by the emperor, appeared in the semi-official Militarische Korrespondenz, forbidding the wives of officers to appear on horseback otherwise than on a side saddle.

The direct cause of the imperial ban appears to have been that the wives of some officers of high rank have had not merely the temerity to go out riding astride in public, but actually in the presence of the empress. Her Majesty, who is as averse to the mannish tendencies in women as to ultra-feminine fads in fashion, strongly objected to this, and spoke to the Kaiser on the subject, with the result that the imperial thunder has thus been called down on the heads of the "advanced" riders.

There has been some murmuring—very quietly, of course—against this edict, and upholders of the mode point out that this is not a case of a freak exotic dance, but in actuality a sensible and safe reform in riding for women. The side saddle is notoriously far more dangerous for the rider than a man's saddle. But the emperor has spoken.

PORTSMOUTH.

Members of Friends' and Christian Churches Attend "Peace" Service.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Rev. Anson B. Howard preached at St. Paul's Sunday morning to a large congregation, from John XXII:3. He announced that Bishop Perry will make his annual visit June 7 and will administer the rite of confirmation.

Rev. James M. Estes took for the subject of his sermon at the Friends' Church "The Promised God the Comfort of the Church." His text was Isaiah XLIII:1-5.

Rev. Albert Loucks of the Christian Church took for his text Psalms XXXVII:16.

There was no service Sunday evening at the two last named churches on account of the "peace" service of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held at the Methodist Episcopal Church by request of Miss Etta M. Sherman, superintendent of that department. After the reading of Scripture and prayer by Rev. Mr. Loucks of the Christian Church "America" was sung by the congregation, led by the choir. Rev. John Wadsworth preached from Matthew V:9 "Blessed are the peace makers." His subject was "International Peace." Sunday morning Mr. Wadsworth's text was John V:5.

Miss Emma L. Brayton was guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ashley.

Miss Lillian Preble of Newport was guest Sunday of Miss Oriana Anthony.

Mrs. Roscoe F. Levins with her daughters, Eunice and Hope, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Laura A. Orswell, in North Tiverton.

Mrs. Edward G. Ruggles and her son, Clarence, who have been spending the week past with Mrs. Ruggles's sister, Mrs. Ella Briggs of Providence, returned home Sunday night.

Mr. Arthur L. Fish of Watertown, Mass., who has not as yet entirely recovered from a long and serious illness, is spending a few days with his father, Mr. Lawrence F. Fish.

Miss Hattie Robinson is guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Abner C. Tallman, in Tiverton.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday School had its annual meeting on Sunday morning for the election of officers, with the following results: Superintendent, H. Chester Hedly; assistant superintendent, Mrs. William Mosher; secretary, treasurer and librarian, David Hedly; organist, Mrs. David Hedly; assistant organist, Miss Alice Natalie Brayton.

Scald a pint of milk and set aside to cool. When lukewarm add one half cake of compressed yeast dissolved in a half cupful of warm water and sufficient sifted flour to make a drop batter. Beat hard for a moment, cover and set aside until light. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and stir into the sponge with two tablespoonfuls sugar and one teaspoonful of salt, then add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Knead until dough feels smooth and velvety to the hands, then turn to bowl, cover and again set aside until doubled in bulk. Shape into small balls, arrange on a floured cloth, cover with a second cloth and let stand undisturbed until light, press the centre of each biscuit deep deeply the handle of a spoon, brush round the edge with soft butter, fold and press the edges lightly together. Place an inch apart on flat buttered pans, let stand until light again, then bake in a quick oven for 15 minutes.

Strawberry Sponge.

Soak a half package of granulated gelatine in a half cupful of cold water. Mix together for a moment one cupful of sugar and a scant cupful of boiling water, add soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved; take from fire, add juice of a half lemon and strain. When this has cooled and is beginning to thicken whip the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth. Gradually mix with the thickening jelly and whip until spongy and quite stiff. Rinse a mold with cold water and fill with alternate layers of the sponge and berries cut fine. Serve ice cold with cream.

A HAP AND TUCK BATTLE.

Here the rally ended, with Rogers leading, 6-5.

Goodspeed went to second in the eighth when the high wind caused Hobbs to drop his long fly. Goodspeed then went to third on McElwaine's grounder to Tubley, but went no farther, as Alderdice and Lewis both went out on fly balls.

St. George's tried hard in the ninth to tie the score. Powel, first man up, bunted and made it. Connolly then worked the old hidden ball trick, and Powel was caught napping at first. Haffner shot one through the pitcher's box, but was eventually stranded on third.

Rogers plays its second game today at New Bedford. The score and summary:

A DESERT EVENING.

[Jean Brooke Burt, in Lippincott's.]

Dusk, and the purple shadows glide
o'er the desert land,
Curling the dust-parched cacti, hiding the sun-white sand;
The scent of the palo verde is sweet
on the twilight air,
And the yucca palms are stirring,
slender and frail and fair.
A weary pack-train, ghost-like, halts
by the water tank,
Where the mallow flowers blossom,
bold and flaming and rank.
The brown bees circle the greasewood,
and a lonely outcast cries,
The howl of a lean coyote raised to
the saffron skies.
Distant the ragged foothills, seared
and scorched by the sun,
Wait the caressing darkness, after
the day is done.
And sweet from the pale mesquit
trees, song of a feathered throat,
Haunting and wild and tender the
thrill of the mocking-bird's note.
Draw near to my arms, beloved! Our
camp-fire flickers and falls,
While the great stars lean above us
here, where the rock owl calls.
Stretches of shimmering silver, and
we and the desert moon,
Alone with the scented night wind and
the peace of a gray dove's croon.

Once again the Kaiser has stepped forward as the censor of public morality, in much the same way as he upheld the canons of good taste when he forbade officers to visit houses where the tango was danced. The breath of many fair equestriennes was taken away, indeed, when an order, signed by the emperor, appeared in the semi-official Militarische Korrespondenz, forbidding the wives of officers to appear on horseback otherwise than on a side saddle.

The direct cause of the imperial ban appears to have been that the wives of some officers of high rank have had not merely the temerity to go out riding astride in public, but actually in the presence of the empress. Her Majesty, who is as averse to the mannish tendencies in women as to ultra-feminine fads in fashion, strongly objected to this, and spoke to the Kaiser on the subject, with the result that the imperial thunder has thus been called down on the heads of the "advanced" riders.

There has been some murmuring—very quietly, of course—against this edict, and upholders of the mode point out that this is not a case of a freak exotic dance, but in actuality a sensible and safe reform in riding for women. The side saddle is notoriously far more dangerous for the rider than a man's saddle. But the emperor has spoken.

PORTSMOUTH.

Sherman, superintendent of that department. After the reading of Scripture and prayer by Rev. Mr. Loucks of the Christian Church "America" was sung by the congregation, led by the choir. Rev. Scald a pint of milk and set aside to cool. When lukewarm add one half a cake of compressed yeast dissolved in a half cupful of warm water and sufficient sifted flour to make a drop batter. Beat hard for a moment, cover and set aside until light. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and stir into the sponge with two tablespoonfuls sugar and one teaspoonful of salt, then add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Knead until dough feels smooth and velvety to the hands, then return to bowl, cover and again set aside until doubled in bulk. Shape into small balls, arrange on a floured cloth, cover with a second cloth and let stand undisturbed until light. Across the centre of each biscuit press deeply the handle of a spoon, brush round the edge with soft butter, fold and press the edges lightly together. Place an inch apart on flat buttered pans, let stand until light and bake in a quick oven for minutes.

Strawberry Sponge.

Soak a half package of granulated gelatine in a half cupful of cold water. Heat together for a moment one cupful sugar and a scant cupful of boiling water, add soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved; take from fire, add juice of a half lemon and strain. When this has cooled and is beginning to thicken whip the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth. Gradually mix with the thickening jelly and whip until spongy and quite stiff. Rinse a mold with cold water and fill with alternate layers of the sponge and berries cut fine. Serve ice cold with cream.

Here the rally ended, with Rogers leading, 6-5.

Goodspeed went to second in the eighth when the high wind caused Hobbs to drop his long fly. Goodspeed then went to third on McElwaine's grounder to Tubley, but went no farther, as Alderdice and Lewis both went out on fly balls.

St. George's tried hard in the ninth to tie the score. Powel, first man up, banted and made it. Connolly then worked the old hidden ball trick, and Powel was caught napping at first. Haffner shot one through the pitcher's box, but was eventually stranded on third.

Rogers plays its second game today at New Bedford. The score and summary:

A DESERT EVENING.

[Jean Brooke Burt, in Lippincott's.]

Dusk, and the purple shadows glide
O'er the desert land,
Cooling the dust-parched cacti, hiding
The sun-white sand;
The scent of the palo verde is sweet
On the twilight air,
And the yucca palms are stirring,
Slender and frail and fair.
A weary pack-train, ghost-like, halts
By the water tank,
Where the mallow flowers blossom,
Bold and flaming and rank.
The brown bees circle the greasewood,
And a lonely outcast cries.
The howl of a lean coyote raised to
The saffron skies.
Distant the ragged foothills, seared
And scorched by the sun,
Wait the caressing darkness, after
The day is done.
And sweet from the pale mesquit
Trees, song of a feathered throat,
Haunting and wild and tender the
Thrill of the mocking-bird's note.
Draw near to my arms, beloved! Our
Camp-fire flickers and falls,
While the great stars lean above us
Here, where the rock owl calls.
Stretches of shimmering silver, and
We and the desert moon,
Alone with the scented night wind and
The peace of a gray dove's croon.

PENALTIES AND CRIME

Whether in the interests of humanity the death penalty ought to be abolished in all the states is a matter on which serious and intelligent persons may entertain differing opinions The view however of Dr Katherine Davis commissioner of corrections in New York that the death penalty ought to be abolished because it does not deter from crime can hardly be admitted without destroying the entire penal system

It is true that murder exists in spite of the death penalty but it also exists in spite of the penalty of life imprisonment so that to substitute the latter would be of no advantage in the suppression of crime though it might be a response to the impulses of humanity If the continuance of crime proves that punishment has no deterrent influence then we might as well abandon prisons as well as the gallows or the electric chair No system anywhere has yet entirely suppressed crime If the occurrence of crime proves that penalty does not deter every individual may it not yet be true that it deters many and falls short only by a narrow margin of deterring everybody

Dr Davis carries to the extreme the theory that crime is the result of disease and makes the general statement that murderers are either hopeless degenerates or defectives capable of cure Certainly many murderers do not come into either category and one of these is an Italian woman mentioned by Dr Davis herself This woman murdered the man who murdered her husband She was sentenced for manslaughter sent to the Bedford Reformatory where after two years Dr Davis paroled her and she went back to Italy married again and is leading an exemplary life She was neither a degenerate nor a defective She was not cured for there was nothing of which to cure her She received clemency on account of the occasion of her crime It might be argued that she ought not to have been sent to Bedford even Her case does not justify putting murderers into a hospital to watch their symptoms cure their defects and release them Can any one believe murder would not increase if no more penalty were imposed?

TO PROTECT ARTISTS

Nothing is more common in these days of rich collectors than to see prices of works of art driven up to figures which would mean fortunes to the men who produced them while they or their families are experiencing a struggle to existence A picture or statue for which the artist received a few hundreds is sold for many thousands to a wealthy man and an unearned increment is pocketed by the seller who may be a collector or merely a speculator

In an effort to remedy this a bill is being pushed through the French legislative assembly to impose a tax of from one to four per cent varying with the sum involved upon sales at auction of works of art It is thought that by making this a tax not on buyer or seller but upon the auctioneers who in Paris constitute a rich close corporation the business of selling works of art will not be driven out of the country It is proposed to perpetuate this tax for the benefit of artists and their descendants for 0 years beyond the death of the artist.

It is computed that if this bill had been in law two years ago Degas would have received $7 0 the descendants of Millet $1 100 Corot or his family $14 .00 and Manet or his family $2 000 Millet had a fight with poverty all his life and never received my considerable prices but since his death his works have brought high figures Mlle Lepine whose fathers paintings now bring good prices, has not the means of providing herself with sufficient food and her mothers life would have been lengthened had she been able to procure medical necessaries This project ought to be carried into effect if possible and it is believed the bill will be enacted The hope that by imposing the tax on the corporation of auctioneers it may be collected without driving the sales out of the country is the dubious element in the problem, but if it is possible to provide for the families of artists out of the value their works reach in the hands of buyers it would be more of justice than of benefaction.

THE NURSING SERVICE

That there are not enough trained nurses in this country, and not enough schools for training more is stated on the authority of the United States Bureau of Education According to the statistics furnished there are 1 094 schools of that character in the country, and nearly 80 per cent are in the Eastern and North Central states This shows that such institutions are not only insufficient in number but are not advantageously distributed since outside these sections there are but 304 for the entire remainder of the country It is practically certain that this condition will not be allowed to continue long as interest in hospitals and training schools is growing rapidly and the public is demanding more and better service of this sort

With increased respect for those who engage in this work with higher standards of attainment and at the same time larger remuneration and better conditions of service the profession will naturally appeal to more persons Added facilities will be afforded since a demand of this kind must be met and there are many public spirited people of abundant means to embrace this great opportunity to benefit mankind. It probably will not be long before it will be impossible to make the claim, now well founded that there are not enough nurses in the country and not enough schools to train the applicants for the work which is waiting to be done and is so important to humanity

The encouraging information is imparted by the bureau in this connection that training schools for nurses are steadily improving in their work and the conditions under which it is done The professional field is widening also to include new and important features which offer increased inducements and incentives One of the most notable of these developments is in connection with the public schools, where the service of nurses is being enlarged every year indeed the report of the bureau notes a great increase of activity along that line since a year ago Standards are being constantly raised by the adoption of state laws requiring examinations and other tests for registered nurses thus placing the profession on a higher plane

The education of nurses has long been regarded as of special interest to hospitals and to the people only as persons here and there were brought into contact with them through treatment at these institutions Today however the public is beginning to recognize the fact that they are vitally interested in this matter not simply because they may some time be unfortunate enough to need treatment at hospitals but because nurses are needed so often in the home and are doing so remarkable a work in the schools and through the schools in the homes of the people, particularly those of slight means The development of the nursing service is one of the most marked features of the present age whose importance can hardly be over rated

Harvard is to have the biggest college gymnasium in the land seven stories in height and large enough to have a swimm a tank high diving pool skating rink shooting ranges bowling alleys rooms for wrestling boxing and fencing shower baths a quarter mile exercise tank two 100 yards straightaway tracks and tennis basket ball and squash courts With this equipment Harvard ought to be able to turn out all round athletes who will win many new honors for the college

One result of the order of the Secretary of the Navy abolishing the wine mess on ships and bore stations has been the revival of the effort to bring the question of a nation wide prohibition law before Congress Prohibitionists both in and out of Congress are getting encouraged by the Secretarys order and hope for favorable action on the proposition for the submission of a constitutional amendment before the state elections next November

It was a motley outpouring of men and women in attendance at the funeral of Angus McLeod not only representatives of the many institutions of which he was in active and prominent charge or even business in the city and city officials but also of those in ordinary walks of life who knew and respected Mr McLeod for his many upright and helpful qualities

President Wilsons legislative program which includes trust legislation rural credit law and a national tract primary act for the selections of candidates for President and Vice President has not made much progress of late in fact it has been practically dormant for five months It will now wait a little longer Other and more pressing business is demanding the attention of Congress

According to statistics compiled by the Census Bureau Rhode Island has the largest per capita indebtedness of any state of the Union The figures show that every man woman and child in Rhode Island represents a debt of $3 56 which is $0 06 more than the individual average in the 48 states A bad showing

Philadelphia May Have Repository for the Preservation of Relics

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Mayor Blankenburg's suggestion that the city should abandon the plans projected some years ago for the erection of a soldiers and sailors monument in Logan square and instead should construct a memorial building on the line of the parkway ought to appeal to the veterans of the Grand Army Of the sum originally appropriated for the monument about $90 000 is left in the city treasury $10 000 having been expended or the publication of a book dedicated to the memory of the Philadelphians who fought in the Civil war This amount is of course too small to permit raising a shaft or statuary group on a scale of magnificence and grandeur commensurate with the momentousness of the event to be perpetuated or which it ought to have to make it significant and worth while in a great city

At any rate there already exists a monument of this character in the Smith memorial archway in West Fairmount Park, while the proposal for a Civil War repository or hall of archives for the preservation of relics records and mementos of the great conflict is more in accord with the general scope of the parkway improvement as well as being feasible and commendable from the practical point of view With the addition of an item of $100 000 for the purpose which was included in the mayors request in the new loan bill now pending in councils making $190 000 in all it ought to be possible to erect a structure which would be at once ornate and imposing and which would be unique among the thousands of Civil War memorials throughout the country

A BIG LUMBER DEAL.

Large Tract of Virgin Territory on Androscoggin Slope Sold to Berlin Mills.

The Connecticut Valley Lumber Company under joint management of Stone & Webster and Hornblower & Weeks, with extensive holdings of timberland in northern New Hampshire and Vermont has just closed a contract with the Berlin Mills Company of Portland Maine, and Berlin N H covering the sale of all the soft wood timber (about 500 000 000 feet) situated on the Androscoggin slope. This is a tract of about 45 000 acres, virgin territory never before operated the Connecticut Valley Lumber Company having heretofore confined its operations to the Connecticut slope, where it owns approximately 260,000 acres with a soft wood stumpage of about 1 500,000,000 feet.

The contract covers continuous cutting over a considerable term of years at a rate that puts the transaction in the front rank in negotiations in timber and pulp wood the price at which the sale was made has not been given out But it is understood to be on a basis commensurate with present valuations of timber and its rate of enhancement. The Berlin Mills Company expects to use the entire yield in its extensive mills at Berlin

THE MOST YOUTHFUL RULER IN THE WORLD.

(Woman's Home Companion)

Like some old-world romance as picturesque as any woven by ardent fancy, the charming story of Marie Adelaide Grand Duchess of Luxemburg unfolds itself In all the present-day history of Europe it has no counterpart Young beautiful one of the richest princesses in Europe she ascended her throne two years ago at the age of 18, as the most youthful ruler in the world.

Small as her country is only a thousand square miles its military strategical situation is inestimable, for through it runs the great highway which makes easy an invasion of Germany or of France Because of this it is a precious corner which every neighboring power covets longingly but dares not appropriate because of mutual greediness After long years of siege and conflict the state's neutrality and independence were assured in 1867 by the Treaty of London Upon this scene there has come forward by right of descent the slender, fragile figure of a fair maid of 20 as defender and guardian of the state In the prosaic history of today the situation in its charm its glamour and its gentle pathos stands unique

PENALTIES AND CRIME.

Whether, in the interests of humanity, the death penalty ought to be abolished in all the states, is a matter on which serious and intelligent persons may entertain differing opinions. The view, however, of Dr. Katherine Davis, commissioner of corrections in New York, that the death penalty ought to be abolished because it does not deter from crime, can hardly be admitted without destroying the entire penal system.

It is true that murder exists in spite of the death penalty, but it also exists in spite of the penalty of life imprisonment, so that to substitute the latter would be of no advantage in the suppression of crime, though it might be a response to the impulses of humanity. If the continuance of crime proves that punishment has no deterrent influence, then we might as well abandon prisons as well as the gallows or the electric chair. No system anywhere has yet entirely suppressed crime. If the occurrence of crime proves that penalty does not deter every individual, may it not yet be true that it deters many and falls short only by a narrow margin of deterring everybody?

Dr. Davis carries to the extreme the theory that crime is the result of disease and makes the general statement that murderers are either hopeless degenerates or defectives capable of cure. Certainly many murderers do not come into either category, and one of these is an Italian woman mentioned by Dr. Davis herself. This woman murdered the man who murdered her husband. She was sentenced for manslaughter, sent to the Bedford Reformatory, where after two years Dr. Davis paroled her and she went back to Italy, married again and is leading an exemplary life. She was neither a degenerate nor a defective She was not cured, for there was nothing of which to cure her. She received clemency on account of the occasion of her crime. It might be argued that she ought not to have been sent to Bedford, even. Her case does not justify putting murderers into a hospital to watch their symptoms, cure their defects and release them. Can any one believe murder would not increase if no more penalty were imposed?

TO PROTECT ARTISTS.

Nothing is more common in these days of rich collectors than to see prices of works of art driven up to figures which would mean fortunes to the men who produced them, while they or their families are experiencing a struggle for existence. A picture or statue for which the artist received a few hundreds is sold for many thousands to a wealthy man and an "unearned increment" is pocketed by the seller, who may be a collector or merely a speculator.

In an effort to remedy this a bill is being pushed through the French legislative assembly to impose a tax of from one to four per cent, varying with the sum involved, upon sales at auction of works of art. It is thought that by making this a tax, not on buyer or seller, but upon the auctioneers, who in Paris constitute a rich close corporation, the business of selling works of art will not be driven out of the country. It is proposed to perpetuate this tax, for the benefit of artists and their descendants, for 50 years beyond the death of the artist.

It is computed that if this bill had been a law two years ago Degas would have received $7,650, the descendants of Millet $3,105, Corot or his family $14,200, and Manet or his family $2,050. Millet had a fight with poverty all his life and never received any considerable prices, but since his death his works have brought high figures. Mlle. Lepine, whose father's paintings now bring good prices, has not the means of providing herself with sufficient food, and her mother's life would have been lengthened had she been able to procure medical necessaries. This project ought to be carried into effect if possible and it is believed the bill will be enacted. The hope that by imposing the tax on the corporation of auctioneers it may be collected without driving the sales out of the country is the dubious element in the problem, but if it is possible to provide for the families of artists out of the value their works reach in the hands of buyers it would be more of justice than of benefaction.

THE NURSING SERVICE.

That there are not enough trained nurses in this country, and not enough schools for training more, is stated on the authority of the United States Bureau of Education. According to the statistics furnished, there are 1,094 schools of that character in the country, and nearly 80 per cent are in the Eastern and North Central states. This shows that such institutions are not only insufficient in number but are not advantageously distributed, since outside these sections there are but 304 for the entire remainder of the country. It is practically certain that this condition will not be allowed to continue long, as interest in hospitals and training schools is growing rapidly and the public is demanding more and better service of this sort.

With increased respect for those who engage in this work, with higher standards of attainment, and at the same time larger remuneration and better conditions of service, the profession will naturally appeal to more persons. Added facilities will be afforded, since a demand of this kind must be met, and there are many public-spirited people of abundant means to embrace this great opportunity to benefit mankind. It probably will not be long before it will be impossible to make the claim, now well founded, that there are not enough nurses in the country and not enough schools to train the applicants for the work which is waiting to be done and is so important to humanity.

The encouraging information is imparted by the bureau in this connection that training schools for nurses are steadily improving in their work and the conditions under which it is done. The professional field is widening, also, to include new and important features, which offer increased inducements and incentives. One of the most notable of these developments is in connection with the public schools, where the service of nurses is being enlarged every year; indeed, the report of the bureau notes a great increase of activity along that line since a year ago. Standards are being constantly raised by the adoption of state laws requiring examinations and other tests for registered nurses, thus placing the profession on a higher plane.

The education of nurses has long been regarded as of special interest to hospitals, and to the people only as persons here and there were brought into contact with them through treatment at these institutions. Today, however, the public is beginning to recognize the fact that they are vitally interested in this matter, not simply because they may some time be unfortunate enough to need treatment at hospitals, but because nurses are needed so often in the home and are doing so remarkable a work in the schools and, through the schools, in the homes of the people, particularly those of slight means. The development of the nursing service is one of the most marked features of the present age, whose importance can hardly be over-rated.

Harvard is to have the biggest college gymnasium in the land, seven stories in height and large enough to have a swimming tank, high diving pool, skating rink, shooting ranges, bowling alleys, rooms for wrestling, boxing and fencing, shower baths, a quarter-mile exercise tank, two 100-yards straightaway tracks and tennis, basket ball and squash courts. With this equipment Harvard ought to be able to turn out all-round athletes who will win many new honors for the college.

One result of the order of the Secretary of the Navy abolishing the wine mess on ships and shore stations has been the revival of the effort to bring the question of a nation-wide prohibition law before Congress. Prohibitionists both in and out of Congress, are greatly encouraged by the Secretary's order and hope for favorable action on the proposition for the submission of a constitutional amendment before the state elections next November.

It was a notable outpouring of men and women in attendance at the funeral of Angus McLeod, not only representatives of the many institutions of which he was an active and prominent factor, of every business in the city and city officials, but also of those in ordinary walks of life who had known and respected Mr. McLeod for his many upright and helpful qualities.

President Wilson's legislative program, which includes trust legislation, a rural credit law and a national direct primary act for the selections of candidates for President and Vice President, has not made much progress of late; in fact, it has been practically dormant for five months. It will now wait a little longer. Other and more pressing business is demanding the attention of Congress.

According to statistics compiled by the Census Bureau, Rhode Island has the largest per capita indebtedness of any state of the Union. The figures show that every man, woman and child in Rhode Island represents a debt of $8.56, which is $5.06 more than the individual average in the 48 states. A bad showing.

If Huerta will not yield gracefully, he will be made to yield. The United States means business.

FOR CIVIL WAR MEMORIAL.

Philadelphia May Have Repository for the Preservation of Relics.

[Philadelphia Bulletin.]

Mayor Blankenburg's suggestion that the city should abandon the plans projected some years ago for the erection of a soldiers and sailors' monument in Logan square, and instead should construct a memorial building on the line of the parkway, ought to appeal to the veterans of the Grand Army. Of the sum originally appropriated for the monument, about $90,000 is left in the city treasury, $10,000 having been expended on the publication of a book dedicated to the memory of the Philadelphians who fought in the Civil war. This amount is, of course, too small to permit raising a shaft or statuary group on a scale of magnificence and grandeur commensurate with the momentousness of the event to be perpetuated, or which it ought to have to make it significant and worth while in a great city.

At any rate, there already exists a monument of this character in the Smith memorial archway in West Fairmount Park, while the proposal for a Civil War repository or hall of archives for the preservation of relics, records and mementos of the great conflict is more in accord with the general scope of the parkway improvement, as well as being feasible and commendable from the practical point of view. With the addition of an item of $100,000 for the purpose which was included at the mayor's request in the new loan bill, now pending in councils, making $190,000 in all, it ought to be possible to erect a structure which would be at once ornate and imposing, and which would be unique among the thousands of Civil War memorials throughout the country.

A BIG LUMBER DEAL.

Large Tract of Virgin Territory on Androscoggin Slope Sold to Berlin Mills.

The Connecticut Valley Lumber Company, under joint management of Stone & Webster and Hornblower & Weeks, with extensive holdings of timberland in northern New Hampshire and Vermont, has just closed a contract with the Berlin Mills Company of Portland, Maine, and Berlin, N. H., covering the sale of all the soft wood timber (about 500,000,000 feet) situated on the Androscoggin slope. This is a tract of about 35,000 acres, virgin territory never before operated, the Connecticut Valley Lumber Company having heretofore confined its operations to the Connecticut slope, where it owns approximately 200,000 acres with a soft wood stumpage of about 1,500,000,000 feet.

The contract covers continuous cutting over a considerable term of years at a rate that puts the transaction in the front rank of negotiations in timber and pulp wood. The price at which the sale was made has not been given out. But it is understood to be on a basis commensurate with present valuations of timber and its rate of enhancement. The Berlin Mills Company expects to use the entire yield in its extensive mills at Berlin.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. Isaac Smith, who was taken suddenly sick while doing the early morning work a week ago Sunday, is not improving very fast, and his continued care has been a heavy strain upon his sister, Mrs. Lydia B. Chase, who has not been well for some time. Mrs. Abram A. Brown is with them for a few days.

Mrs. Phoebe Smith of Brookline, Mass., formerly of Middletown, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Irish on Wapping road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton C. Barker of Turner's road have been entertaining their daughters, Mrs. Karl M. Stone and Mrs. George Klapher of New York; Mr. Stone and the two children, who have just returned from Boston, where they attended the wedding of Mr. Stone's brother.

Newport County Pomona Grange was represented Saturday at the meeting of Old Colony Pomona Grange, at Swansea, Mass., by three members from Middletown, two from Portsmouth, three from Nanaquaket Grange, Stone Bridge, and two from Tiverton.

Rev. Edward L. Reed of Emmanuel Church, Newport, will speak at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel the latter part of the month.

Mr. William B. Wyatt of Wyatt road has a Muscovey duck for which no owner can be found. During the heavy rain and blow in March he was literally blown in on the farm and has since remained. The other breed of ducks being unwilling to associate with him, he leads a lonely life.

The schools of the town re-opened today after the week's spring vacation.

Gordon, the second of the four children of Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Wells, is ill at the Methodist parsonage with pneumonia. Dr. G. A. Miles, an uncle of Mr. Wells, came today from Somerville, Mass., to act in association with the resident physician, Dr. Conway.

Mr. Everett Schwartz of Providence, formerly of Middletown, has returned here to become bookkeeper for Peckham Bros., Paradise avenue. He will make his home with Mrs. Restcom S. Peckham, Green End avenue.

The district overseer is drilling and blowing the ledges and boulders which lie along the upper Third Beach road, near the junction of Green End avenue, and the Taber blacksmith shop. This will be an advantage, by widening the road at the curve of Bliss Mine road.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Le Valley are entertaining their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Van Vrevenberg of Pawtucket.

SCHOONER KATOURA NEARLY READY.

The work of fitting schooner yacht Katoura, owned by Commodore Robert E. Tod of New York, with her rigging and sails is going on rapidly at the Herreshoffs, Bristol, and it is planned to take the schooner to an anchorage Wednesday. The chart house is completed and the temporary canvas tent removed. Commodore Tod arrived in Bristol Saturday and intends to live on board the Katoura until the boat is put out of commission next fall. The schooner's crew also arrived Saturday, including two mates and seamen. There will be 22 men before the mast.

INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH.

Morgan Belmont, son of August Belmont, and his friend, F. S. Whitlock of Boston, narrowly escaped death and were painfully injured Saturday when Whitlock's automobile, in which they were driving to New York, left the road at Beacon Falls, Conn. The car crashed into the power house of the Housatonic Power Company, making a hole in the wall, wrecking the automobile and throwing out both the young men.

Neither was so badly hurt that he could not walk. They took a trolley car to Seymour, were they had their cuts and bruises treated by a physician. They then hired an automobile which took them where they boarded a train to New York. One of Mr. Belmont's legs was severely wrenched.

THE MOST YOUTHFUL RULER IN THE WORLD.

[Woman's Home Companion.]

Like some old-world romance, as picturesque as any woven by ardent fancy, the charming story of Marie Adelaide, Grand Duchess of Luxemburg, unfolds itself. In all the present-day history of Europe it has no counterpart. Young, beautiful, one of the richest princesses in Europe, she ascended her throne two years ago, at the age of 18, as the most youthful ruler in the world.

Small as her country is, only a thousand square miles, its military strategical situation is inestimable, for through it runs the great highway which makes easy an invasion of Germany or of France. Because of this it is a precious corner which every neighboring power covets longingly, but dares not appropriate because of mutual greediness. After long years of siege and conflict, the state's neutrality and independence were assured in 1867 by the Treaty of London. Upon this scene there has come forward, by right of descent, the slender, fragile figure of a fair maid of 20 as defender and guardian of the state. In the present history of today the situation in its charm, its glamour, and its gentle pathos, stands unique.

TODAY'S FUNERALS.

Services for Mrs. Lehane, Mrs. Hussey and William B. Manuel.

A large number gathered at St. Augustin's Church this morning for the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth, widow of Jeremiah J. Lehane. The solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Father Reddy, assisted by Father O'Rourke as deacon and Father Hines as sub-deacon. The Women's Catholic Benvolent Legion, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body. There were many handsome floral tributes from old-time friends. The interment was in St. Columba cemetery, beside the grave of her husband, who died about two years ago. The bearers were Andrew Gillis, Michael P. Vaughan, Peter F. O'Connor, Terence O'Gorman, Michael Shea and Charles McKenna.

Mrs. Lehane, like her husband, was known to a large circle of friends in the lower part of the city and the news of her death was a surprise to all, for she had been in her usual health up to the time of a shock, which immediately preceded her death. One of her daughters, who is in the order of the Sisters of Mercy, was on the way to visit her mother when death occurred. She stopped at St. Marys convent on her way to Harrison avenue, and there learned of the death of her mother, whom she expected to meet in good health. Mrs. Lehane leaves two sons and four daughters.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen, widow of Martin Hussey, took place this morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Flinn, on Carey street, to St. Augustin's Church. The funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Father O'Rourke. There was a large attendance and many floral offerings. The interment was in St. Columba cemetery, the bearers being six grandsons—Patrick, John, William and Stephen Gleason and Patrick J. and Joseph Kirby. Mrs. Hussey's son, John Hussey, died in New York April 2, the body being brought her for interment.

The funeral of William B. Manuel took place this afternoon from his late residence on Second street, Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church, officiating. The interment was in the Braman cemetery, the bearers being John M. Friend, Edwin Winsor, Alexander MacLellan and Edward N. Lawton.

Rev. Dr. McClelland Pays Tribute to Deceased at Funeral of Angus McLeod.

The funeral of Angus McLeod took place Sunday afternoon from his residence on Rhode Island avenue, and the house was not large enough to hold all who attended. Many stood on the piazza and steps and others were forced to remain on the sidewalks. The employes of the King-McLeod Company, men and women, were present in large numbers, meeting on Rhode Island avenue near Broadway and marching to the house in a body. Clan McLeod and the St. Andrew's Society were also largely represented, attending in a body and furnishing bearers from their ranks. The United Congregational Church, Newport Trust Company, Aquidneck National Bank, Newport Horticultural Society, Newport Water Works, Newport Hospital and Bay State Street Railway Company were largely represented, and many business men were present to pay tribute to an associate whom they had respected in life and would honor in death.

The body rested in a heavy oak casket, which was almost completely concealed by a wealth of handsome floral tributes from the various organizations with which Mr. McLeod was associated, business associates and friends of the family.

Rev. T. Calvin McClelland, Ph. D., formerly pastor of the United Congregational Church, of which Mr. McLeod had been a member 34 years and and official practically all that time, conducted the funeral service. This included a brief prayer, the reading of the Twenty Third Psalm and other passages from the Bible and an address. Dr. McClelland paid a tribute to the life and character of Mr. McLeod, speaking from an intimate personal relationship of many years, characterizing the deceased as a Christian business man, a Christian who had carried his principles into business.

The interment was in the Island cemetery, Clan McLeod, and the St. Andrew's Society acting as escort and many others accompanying the body to the grave. The honorary bearers were Thomas P. Peckham and Clark Burdick, representing the Newport Trust Company; Charles A. Brackett, representing the Aquidneck National Bank, Gardner S. Perry, representing the United Congregational Church, and William Paine Sheffield and Robert S. Goff, representing the Bay State Street Railway Company. The body bearers were Chief John A. TO OPEN THE SEASON.

Trojans Out to Decide Last Season's Argument With All-Fall River Team.

The Trojans will open their season next Sunday with Manager Ney's All-Fall River team. This is the aggregation which defeated the Trojans at Wellington park in the last game played there last season. It will be remembered that another game was arranged, but owing to rainy weather the contest was never played. The locals feel that they are a better team and desire to prove it by deciding last season's argument.

When Ralph O'Connell advanced from the locals to faster company it was justly felt that the team had suffered a big loss, but by good fortune the Trojans have been able to put in his place a man who has the reputation of being the best semi-professional player in Rhode Island. When the numerous new machinists employed at the Torpedo Station, began to arrive it was discovered that among them was "Bobby" Walling, who last season played with the champion Revere team of the Providence City League, and Manager Eagan promptly landed Bobby under the Trojan banner. This will give the Trojans another local player who can fill the bill.

Walling is a clever worker of the steady kind and a free hitter of the driving style. Some of the fans will recall his long drive in the Trojan-Revere game last season, when he hit the very top of the right-field fence, the ball going straight up in the air after hitting the stringer, and it was a question whether or not it was going over. He made two hits in that game, a good record when Jake Sheehan is pitching.

Manager Eagan has also signed "Bill" Ormsby, who last season played in the Inter-City League and with the fast Hyannis team. Ormsby is an outfielder, fast on the bases and a good hitter and fielder and a player who is full of action. He should be a big help to the team.

GREAT ARRAY OF TALENT.

Comics Prepared With Laugh Producers and New Acts for Circus.

The clowns engaged to appear with the Young Men's Christian Association circus on the Mary Street grounds are said to have some of the latest and best laugh producers ever brought before a circus audience. This troupe of comics is headed by no less famous individuals than Ray Dillon under the alias of "Silvers," Alister MacIver imitating "Marcel," Oscar Holmes of the Worcester Hippodrome, Harold Barker and Carlton Lawton, the "Biscuit Boy," Hazard O'Hearn in an act never before exhibited in public, Frank Wheeler, Hartley Ward and George Williamson in specialties all their own. In addition to this array of talent there are 12 lesser lights, all anxious to win renown in the sawdust circle.

These artists are under the absolute management of Mr. G. A. Stokes, whose experience with previous shows covering a number of years make him an authority in his line. Mr. Stokes has collected some of the best acts from the big shows both here and abroad and has added to these three original numbers which have never before been exposed to the view of a critical and exacting body of spectators.

The first of these acts to be introduced is entitled "Amateur Night," in which the whole company of clowns appears. The second act is the most wonderful of the three, for in it a selected few appear in a "Harmony Brass Band and Orchestra." Such an organization is out of the ordinary, but to take it still further from the beaten paths of custom Mr. Stokes will have the musicians play with their instruments entirely concealed.

HITS ON MUSIC PROGRAM.

Civil Service Ball at the Beach to Take Place Rain or Shine.

All arrangements have been made for the Civil Service ball at the beach this evening and it will take place, rain or shine. The management has had special decorations depicting war scenes, which Wilmarth has arranged around the hall, giving a pleasing effect, and these will be shown by spot lights. In addition colored lights, Japanese lanterns, etc., will help make the hall cheerful. A system has been devised which it is believed will greatly facilitate the checking of wraps and coats. Refreshments will be served by Frasch. Arrangements have been made with the railroad company for car service and only the regular fare will be charged. During the evening a flash light photograph of the party will be made and this will later be put in post card form. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock.

The program of music will contain some of the following Winter Garden and Hippodrome hits: "This is the Life," "I'm On My Way to Mandalay," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Midnight Rag Time Ride of Paul Revere," "I Love the Ladies," "Stop Thief," "Adele," "First Love," "You Broke My Heart To Pass the Time Away," "While the Rivers of Love Flow On," "Bring Me Back My Loving Honey-Boy," "Rag Time Dream," "Dancing Her Heart Away," "All Aboard for Dixie Land," "Off With the Old Love, On With the New," "Can't Get Away From It," "Argentine Tango," "Camp Meeting Band," "Brazilian Dreams!" "My Hindoo Man," "The Anti Ragtime Girl," and "Kiss Me, I've never been Kissed Before."

PING PONG TABLE BUSY.

Enlisted Men Well Entertained During Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday afternoon the new ping-pong table was set up at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, where it soon proved its popularity with the enlisted men. It was kept busy, and in fact it might be said that it worked over-time, for a group of rookies were stationed around it until far into the evening. The Association piano was put into commission by E. W. Toll, who effectively entertained the men with selections of popular music. The usual social in the evening was omitted owing to the fact that a track meet was held between the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association and the Fall River Association.

Sunday the men attended the 4 o'clock service at Trinity Church, where Rev. Stanley C. Hughes preached. After the service the men marched to the parish house, where the women entertained and served luncheon. Mrs. Pearce, wife of the chaplain at the Training Station, sang for the boys, and Secretary E. O. Andrews gave a short talk. At 7:30 a small party attended the evening service at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Physical Instructor Slocum of the Young Men's Christian Association is preparing to start the Grammar School Base Ball League for 1914 and expects to send out circulars to the principals in a day or two. If then the boys will come together, elect captains and begin practice as soon as possible he will be able to give the league an early start. Mr. Slocum hopes to have it going about May 8, and if the boys show the same life and desire to play that they have in the past seasons the games will come off without hitches or delays. It is really a pleasure to have to do with the grammar school boys; they are out to play the game the best they can and let the best team win

TODAY'S FUNERALS.

Services for Mrs. Lehane, Mrs. Hussey and William B. Manuel.

A large number gathered at St. Augustin's Church this morning for the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth, widow of Jeremiah J. Lehane. The solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Father Reddy, assisted by Father O'Rourke as deacon and Father Hines as sub-deacon. The Women's Catholic Benvolent Legion, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body. There were many handsome floral tributes from old-time friends. The interment was in St. Columba cemetery, beside the grave of her husband, who died about two years ago. The bearers were Andrew Gillis, Michael P. Vaughan, Peter F. O'Connor, Terence O'Gorman, Michael Shea and Charles McKenna.

Mrs. Lehane, like her husband, was known to a large circle of friends in the lower part of the city and the news of her death was a surprise to all, for she had been in her usual health up to the time of a shock, which immediately preceded her death. One of her daughters, who is in the order of the Sisters of Mercy, was on the way to visit her mother when death occurred. She stopped at St. Marys convent on her way to Harrison avenue, and there learned of the death of her mother, whom she expected to meet in good health. Mrs. Lehane leaves two sons and four daughters.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen, widow of Martin Hussey, took place this morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Finn, on Carey street, to St. Augustin's Church. The funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Father O'Rourke. There was a large attendance and many floral offerings. The interment was in St. Columba cemetery, the bearers being six grandsons—Patrick, John, William and Stephen Gleason and Patrick J. and Joseph Kirby. Mrs. Hussey's son, John Hussey, died in New York April 3, the body being brought her for interment.

The funeral of William B. Manuel took place this afternoon from his late residence on Second street, Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church, officiating. The interment was in the Braman cemetery, the bearers being John M. Friend, Edwin Winsor, Alexander MacLehan and Edward N. Lawton.

The funeral of Angus McLeod took place Sunday afternoon from his residence on Rhode Island avenue, and the house was not large enough to hold all who attended. Many stood on the piazza and steps and others were forced to remain on the sidewalks. The employes of the King-McLeod Company, men and women were present in large numbers, meeting on Rhode Island avenue near Broadway and marching to the house in a body. Clan McLeod and the St. Andrew's Society were also largely represented, attending in a body and furnishing bearers from their ranks. TO OPEN THE SEASON.

Trojans Out to Decide Last Season's Argument With All-Fall River Team.

The Trojans will open their season next Sunday with Manager Ney's All-Fall River team. This is the aggregation which defeated the Trojans at Wellington park in the last game played there last season. It will be remembered that another game was arranged, but owing to rainy weather the contest was never played. The locals feel that they are a better team and desire to prove it by deciding last season's argument.

When Ralph O'Connell advanced from the locals to faster company it was justly felt that the team had suffered a big loss. But by good fortune the Trojans have been able to put in his place a man who has the reputation of being the best semi-professional player in Rhode Island. He made two hits in that game, a good record when Jake Shee han is pitching.

Manager Eagan has also signed "Bill" Ormsby, who last season played in the Inter-City League and with the fast Hyannis team. Ormsby is an outfielder, fast on the bases and a good hitter and fielder and a player who is full of action. He should be a big help to the team.

Comics Prepared With Laugh Producers and New Acts for Circus.

The clowns engaged to appear with the Young Men's Christian Association circus on the Mary Street grounds are said to have some of the latest and best laugh producers ever brought before a circus audience. Grammar School Base Ball League for 1914 Being Prepared For.

Physical Instructor Slocum of the Young Men's Christian Association is preparing to start the Grammar School Base Ball League for 1914 and expects to send out circulars to the principals in a day or two. If then the boys will come together, elect captains and begin practice as soon as possible he will be able to give the league an early start. Mr. Slocum hopes to have it going about May 8, and if the boys show the same life and desire to play that they have in the past seasons the games will come off without hitches or delays. It is really a pleasure to have to do with the grammar school boys; they are out to play the game the best they can and let the best team win.

TRUST BILLS MUST BE PASSED.

Wilson Refuses to Listen to Pleas for Postponement of Legislation.

Political Sparring Matches—Economy Talked of in the House But not Practiced.

[Washington correspondence of the News]

WASHINGTON April 18—Attempts to disturb the Wilson program of legislation do not amount to much especially when it is found that Wilson has not been consulted ever since he became President Congress has tried to make a legislative program of its own from time to time by postponing currency legislation and other matters in order to adjourn and get away But every time the President simply gives out a statement saying that he knows nothing about it and it is his idea that Congress should consider legislation to which the party pledged itself in the platform of 1912

The latest idea of the Democrats was to postpone trust legislation This had not only the purpose of securing an early adjournment but also had in view an acquiescence to the demand from certain business quarters that no more legislation affecting business be enacted at the present time But the President stopped that program just as he has the others and Congress must do its task before the adjournment is taken

There have been some beautiful exhibitions of political sparring matches in the House lately in which the three parties have figured Chairman Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee represented the Democratic party and Minority Leader Mann and Sereno Payne the Republican party while Vic Murdock was the champion of the Progressives During the bickering there were allusions to the efforts the Republicans and Progressives are supposed to be making to get together Before the end of the discussion it was evident that there is no intention of amalgamation at present Payne scored one hit by referring to the Bull Moosers as the bumblebee party which was a new one and therefore appreciated

When I speak of economy in the [illegible] I mean that it is simply talked about but not practiced For a week the House wrestled with a bill providing for salaries for all the government officials and clerks and about the only economy that was really obtained and for which the men who handled the appropriation bill made a fight was in cutting out three or four assay offices in the West and making a saving of $7,000 In chiding the Democrats Vic Murdock of the Progressives said You are under the necessity of practicing economy and economy as far as my observation goes in this House is a lost art And that is about the size of it

Congressman Murray of Oklahoma was making a little talk in the House and referred to the persistence of Congressman Fowler and said that he was like Tennyson's brook—going on forever In the course of his talk he referred to Fowler as old settler and said that he would go over in Illinois and help Fowler to be re elected Fowler obtained the floor and remarked that he was glad to hear the bugle voice of my friend Alfalfa Bill I am glad to have assurance of his sonorous voice over in my district ringing from the hills and mountain tops

But the gentleman has no mountains remarked Cox of Indiana who believed that Illinois was a level state

The Senate had a program which included unfinished business at [illegible] o'clock and a special order at 1 o'clock Besides this three or four Senators had given notices that they would speak on different topics This finally moved John Sharp Williams to protest The Mississippi Senator thought that the Senate ought to get down to business and consider one thing at a time until it was finished And yet John Sharp has been around Congress many many years and ought to be thoroughly acquainted with the ways of the Senate

The House of Representatives as well as the Senate can waste a day now and then as easy as not That is what happens generally on district days as those days are called which are set apart for the consideration of the business of the District of Columbia The way they do that is to take up and consider a bill which would completely readjust the present plan of district government and its relations with the national government It makes a good subject to talk about but it is absolutely dead as everybody knows that any bill changing the present plan could not pass the Senate

Representative Donovan of Connecticut interested himself in legislation the other day and after dandering about for a while he cried out What is the gentleman that knows it all Possibly there were several men in the House who would have responded to that query but strange to say they did not

ANCIENT PALACE FOUND.

Grecian Excavations Reveal Another Structure Under Ruins of Tiryns

[illegible] the German [illegible] Institute [illegible] in [illegible] history of Tiryns [illegible] the existence of a still more ancient palace lying beneath the remains of the palace built by Schliemann and Dorpfeld some years ago

The whole location on which the fortress palace stands was thickly inhabited at least a thousand years [illegible] Among the early habitations [illegible] discovered is a large circular building about 14 meters in diameter which may be recognized as the most ancient palace of the dynasts of Tiryns This structure which was built before 1500 B C differs completely in design from the later buildings

The places of sepulture of the great princes have hitherto been sought for in vain but a beehive tomb in excellent preservation has now been discovered and excavated More than 2,000 years ago it was robbed of its treasures and in the time of the Roman emperors it was converted into an oil mill

Other tombs have been found which it is hoped may prove intact They will be excavated next season

CONTROLLING WEATHER.

Nature's Course the Best in the End for Giving General Satisfaction

[New York World]

At first glance Sir Oliver Lodge's proposal to control the weather will meet with universal approval Everybody complains of the weather but as Mark Twain said nothing is ever done

Still there are serious drawbacks to the scheme when it is carefully considered Suppose for instance that somebody at Washington had the authority not merely to forecast good or bad weather but to create a particular kind of weather at a given date and hour, what chance would there be of his giving satisfaction If he undertook to regulate the rain so as to suit a Connecticut farmer whose corn was suffering for want of moisture the Sunday School picnickers who had chosen that day would be sure to complain If he kept the mercury at zero during the month of January so that the ice companies could gather a large crop at their convenience there would be howls of protest from the cities because of the jump in the price of coal Every time he decreed that it should be dry or wet cool or warm he would spoil somebody's plans or profits

No government could exist for a year that was responsible for making weather for general consumption and private weather making would be the worst of special privileges Perhaps in the end it may be best to let nature take her course

VINCENT ASTOR'S IMPROVEMENT

Mr Vincent Astor showed such improvement Sunday that several friends were permitted to see him in the home of Mr Robert P Huntington father of his fiancee His improvement over Saturday was said to be marked His temperature was normal

No announcement which would change the arrangements for the wedding April 30 has been made Friends who were at the Huntington home said they did not believe the wedding would be postponed Mr Astor was showing such steady improvement that he was expected to be out of bed soon

The manager of a window glass company in Boston tells this story

"We anticipated a rise in the price of window glass and wanted to give our customers the benefit of current quotations There wasn't time to make personal visits to the trade letters wouldn't be satisfactory, so we made our calls by telephone

"In ten days we made total calls to widely separated points in New England and booked orders aggregating $250,000"

DIP HANDS IN PACIFIC.

Coast-to-Coast Hikers a Feature at Opening of California Beach.

Sunday the coast-to-coast hikers, who were a feature at the opening of the Newport beach June 15 last, were one of the features of the opening of Venice beach, Cal., having completed their hike across the continent. Saturday they left Los Angeles, where they had been killing time for a large part of the week, to make their entry at the California resort at the proper time. They were met on the outskirts by a band and a crowd gave them a hearty welcome, but before they consider their trip completed they went to the water's edge and dipped their hands in the Pacific. The last lap was 15 miles and they hope to make San Francisco on foot, but Sergeant Hittman has a bad foot and it will depend upon him what they will do. The party hope to start for home by train early next month.

—At the Moose Club Saturday evening O'Connell, the Moose player, defeated Sergeant Jones of Fort Adams, 100 to 52, in an interesting game of pool, in which he had a shade the better of it at all times. This evening Ruggeri and Dennehey will play in the Moose tournament.

—Sesconnet Lodge of Little Compton is among those joining the Taunton Odd Fellows in their celebration today, it being the first of the links in Taunton.

—Assistant Surgeon R. M. Waterhouse, medical reserve corps, has been detached from the Naval Medical School, Washington, and ordered to the naval hospital, Newport.

Special phases were assigned to different committees.

—The work of making the new dock at Bristol Ferry is a greater undertaking than was at first anticipated. The dredging, which is still going on is slow work, and so is that of hauling the rock for the fill. The driving of piles has not yet been begun, and it will take some hustling to have things ready for the opening of the enlarged service May 1.

—Rev. T. Calvin McClelland, Ph. D., who came here to officiate at the funeral of Mr. Angus McLeod, preached at the United Congregational Church Sunday evening on invitation of Professor A. A. —Mr. James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, arrived at Nice Saturday night on his yacht Lysistrata. He spent the night on board and early Sunday morning went ashore and motored to his villa at Beaulieusur-Mer, where he will complete his convalescence. Mr. Bennett's health is satisfactory and he suffered no fatigue as a result of the voyage from Alexandria.

—Sunday was Easter Sunday for the adherents of the Greek Church and a number of the fishing craft had flags flying for the day. It was also Communion day for the men's societies of the Catholic churches and there was a big turnout at each church at the early mass, devoted almost exclusively to men for this occasion. At St. Mary's, in the absence of Father Meenan, Father Hayden of the Sacred Heart church, Natick, assisted the regular priests in hearing confessions Saturday.

TRUST BILLS MUST BE PASSED.

Wilson Refuses to Listen to Pleas for Postponement of Legislation.

Political Sparring Matches—Economy Talked of in the House But not Practiced.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Attempts to distort the Wilson program of legislation do not amount to much, especially when it is found that Wilson has not been consulted. Ever since he became President Congress has tried to make a legislative program of its own from time to time, by postponing currency legislation and other matters in order to adjourn and get away. But every time the President simply gives out a statement saying that he knows nothing about it, and it is his idea that Congress should consider legislation to which the party pledged itself in the platform of 1912.

The latest idea of the Democrats was to postpone trust legislation. This had not only the purpose of securing an early adjournment, but also had in view an acquiescence to the demand from certain business quarters that no more legislation affecting business be enacted at the present time. But the President stopped that program just as he has the others and Congress must do its task before the adjournment is taken.

There have been some beautiful exhibitions of political sparring matches in the House lately in which the three parties have figured. Chairman Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee represented the Democratic party, and Minority Leader Mann and Sereno Payne the Republican party, while Vic Murdock was the champion of the Progressives. During the bickering there were allusions to the efforts the Republicans and Progressives are supposed to be making to get together. Before the end of the discussion it was evident that there is no intention of amalgamation at present. Payne scored one hit by referring to the Bull Moosers as the "bumblebee" party, which was a new one and therefore appreciated.

When I speak of economy in the air I mean that it is simply talked about, but not practiced. For a week the House wrestled with a bill providing for salaries for all the government officials and clerks, and about the only economy that was really obtained, and for which the men who handled the appropriation bill made a fight, was in cutting out three or four assay offices in the West and making a saving of $3,000. In chiding the Democrats Vic Murdock of the Progressives said, "You are under the necessity of practicing economy, and economy, as far as my observation goes, in this House is a lost art." And that is about he size of it.

Congressman Murray of Oklahoma was making a little talk in the House and referred to the persistence of Congressman Fowler and said that he was like Tennyson's brook—going on forever. In the course of his talk he referred to Fowler as "old settler" and said that he would go over in Illinois and help Fowler to be re-elected. Fowler obtained the floor and remarked that he was glad to hear the mailed fist of the "Alfalfa" bugle voice of my friend, 'Alfalfa Bill.' I am glad to have assurance of his sonorous voice over in my district ringing from the hills and mountain tops."

"But the gentleman has no mountains," remarked Cox of Indiana, who believed that Illinois was a level state.

The Senate had a program which included unfinished business at 2 o'clock, and a special order at 3 o'clock. Besides this three or four Senators had given notices that they would speak on different topics. This finally moved John Sharp Williams to protest. The Mississippi Senator thought that the Senate ought to get down to business and consider one thing at a time until it was finished. And yet John Sharp has been around Congress many, many years and ought to be thoroughly acquainted with the ways of the Senate.

The House of Representatives, as well as the Senate, can waste a day now and then as easy as not. That is what happens generally on district days, as those days are called which are set apart for the consideration of the business of the District of Columbia. The way they do that is to take up and consider a bill which would completely readjust the present plan of district government and its relations with the national government. It makes a good subject to talk about, but it is absolutely dead, as everybody knows that any bill changing the present plan could not pass the Senate.

Representative Donovan of Connecticut interested himself in legislation the other day, and after floundering about for awhile he cried out: "Where is the gentleman that knows it all?" Is the gentleman that knows it all?" Possibly there were several men in the House who could have responded to that query; but, strange to say, they did not.

ANCIENT PALACE FOUND.

Grecian Excavations Reveal Another Structure Under Ruins of Tiryns.

Excavations recently carried out by the German Archeological Institute on the site of prehistoric Tiryns have revealed the existence of a still more ancient palace lying beneath the remains of the palace laid bare by Schliemann and Dorpfeld some 25 years ago.

The whole elevation on which the fortress-palace stands was thickly inhabited at least as far back as 2000 B. C. Among the early habitations now discovered is a large circular building about 14 meters in diameter, which may be recognized as the most ancient palace of the dynasts of Tiryns. This structure, which was built before 1500 B. C. differs completely in design from the later building.

The places of sepulture of the local princes have hitherto been sought for in vain, but a beehive tomb in excellent preservation has now been discovered and excavated. More than 2,600 years ago it was robbed of its treasures, and in the time of the Roman emperors it was converted into an oil mill.

Other tombs have been found, which it is hoped may prove intact; they will be excavated next season.

CONTROLLING WEATHER.

Nature's Course the Best in the End for Giving General Satisfaction.

[New York World.]

At first glance Sir Oliver Lodge's proposal to control the weather will meet with universal approval. Everybody complains of the weather, but, as Mark Twain said, nothing is ever done.

Still, there are serious drawbacks to the scheme, when it is carefully considered. Suppose, for instance, that somebody at Washington had the authority not merely to forecast good or bad weather, but to create a particular kind of weather at a given date and hour, what chance would there be of his giving satisfaction? If he undertook to regulate the rain so as to suit a Connecticut farmer, whose corn was suffering for want of moisture, the Sunday School picnickers who had chosen that day would be sure to complain. If he kept the mercury at zero during the month of January so that the ice companies could gather a large crop at their convenience, there would be howls of protest from the cities because of the jump in the price of coal. Every time he decreed that it should be dry or wet, cool or warm, he would spoil somebody's plans or profits.

No government could exist for a year that was responsible for making weather for general consumption, and private weather making would be the worst of special privileges. Perhaps in the end it may be best to let nature take her course.

VINCENT ASTOR'S IMPROVEMENT.

Mr Vincent Astor showed such improvement Sunday that several friends were permitted to see him in the home of Mr. Robert P. Huntington, father of his fiancee. His improvement over Saturday was said to be marked. His temperature was normal.

No announcement which would change the arrangements for the wedding April 30 has been made. Friends who were at the Huntington home said they did not believe the wedding would be postponed; Mr. Astor was showing such steady improvement that he was expected to be out of bed soon.

The Sales Manager's Story.

The manager of a window glass company in Boston tells this story:

"We anticipated a rise in the price of window glass and wanted to give our customers the benefit of current quotations. There wasn't time to make personal visits to the trade, so we made our calls by telephone.

"In ten days we made toll calls to widely separated points in New England and booked orders aggregating $250,000."

The up-to-date sales manager uses the Bell telephone for out-of-town calls when it's a question of quick and profitable selling.

DANDRUFF ON HEAD HAIR CAME OUT

Head Itched and Burned All the Time. Rash Formed a Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Waterford, Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried ——— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Lucella Lord, May 10, 1913.

BALCH OFF FOR MEXICO.

Navy Tug Pontiac Here for Torpedo Outfit for Battleship Texas.

The new destroyer Balch, which came here last week for her torpedo outfit, received orders Sunday and sailed for the naval centre off Mexico.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning navy tug Pontiac arrived at the Torpedo Station from the New York yard for the torpedo outfit for battleship Texas, which is being fitted out with all possible speed. Sixteen torpedoes with their accessories were taken on board during the forenoon. Under ordinary conditions the Texas would have come here for her outfit, but time is saved by sending the tug while the big ship is still in the hands of the yard force.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon there were still several cases to be put on board and it was impossible to state when the tug would be able to leave, as the weather is considered rather threatening for the small craft with such a cargo to start out. Each torpedo cased up weighs about a ton, it is said at the Station, and the outfit for each amounts to nearly a ton more.

Other than preparing this outfit for the Texas, little has been done at the Station today, for every man available for the duty has been engaged on it. The order came without warning and the entire outfit had to be boxed and otherwise prepared for safe transportation, there being no way for carrying missiles or handling them on board the tug other than in cases.

HERRING AND FLAT FISH.

Schooners and Local Boats Bound South for Mackerel Grounds.

Two mackerel schooners were in port Sunday, bound south—the Tecumseh and the Priscilla II. They were not the only ones to go south, for the Clara T., Captain Gus Larson, left this afternoon, just after dinner, for the mackerel grounds, and Captain Joe Travers in the Reliance will leave this evening. The Priscilla, Captain Jim Kelley; the St. Paul, Wood and Mack, Captain Kent; Thomas B. Congdon, Captain Peterson, and Little Addie, Captain Will Loth, came off the ways today and will soon be off. The Wood and Mack will go to Edgartown Tuesday for her gear and the Priscilla will probably sail south Wednesday.

It was so rough outside today that C. B. Anderson and C. A. Easterbrooks gave up the attempt to set traps outside.

Captain Burdick was over from Point Judith today with 30 barrels of herring and flatfish, the catch of eight traps. Sunday G. C. Sherburne and Everett Shedburne, from Woods Hole were in with more than 100 barrels of herring and flatfish. The shipping facilities at Woods Hole are so poor that they bring the fish here for shipment by boat, and say they will come again.

Manuel Ramos was in this morning with 1,000 herring and the first local, or native, shad of the season, caught at the Third beach.

Captain Jack Harrington has his boat here, ready to start lobstering. The local lobster season is on and the Greek restaurants are quick to advertise the fact.

JAMESTOWN.

Reminiscences and Anecdotes by Dr. Bates and Henry W. Clarke.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Before the most largely attended meeting ever held by the Jamestown Historical Society, Saturday afternoon at "Maplewood," Dr. W. L. Bates read an interesting paper on old Jamestown, giving a number of dates of local interest, including the first evidence of the summer boarder and the establishment of the ferries. He also gave many reminiscences of the Carr family. He was followed by remarks by Mr. Henry W. Clarke of Newport, who told a number of anecdotes. After the meeting a tea complimentary to Dr. Bates was given in the large dining hall by Mrs. Vial. Mrs. T. G. Carr and Mrs. F. Armbrust poured tea, assisted by Misses Harriet Knowles and Elizabeth Swinburne.

The work on a cellar for a bungalow on Narragansett avenue for Miss Jessie Knowles is well under way.

Mrs. Owen and family of Newport have arrived at her cottage on Shoreby Hill for the summer.

The blasts about noon Sunday on the fire alarm whistle were for a test, as some changes were being made to the storage battery.

C. E. Weeden has rented for Mrs. George L. Crawford of Merion, Pa., her cottage on the Dumplings to Mrs. J. B. Lennig of Philadelphia for the season of 1914.

Mrs. A. Goodman of Providence spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Clarke, on Narragansett avenue.

Miss L. Hayes and Miss Donohue of Boston were guests Sunday of Miss Mabel Peckham at her home on Howland avenue.

Mrs. M. A. Kern of Philadelphia has arrived at her cottage on Shoreby Hill for the summer.

ANNOUNCED AT SUPPER.

Miss Annie F. Northup's Engagement to Mr. Walter H. Garrett.

At a supper given Saturday evening at her home on Thurston avenue to 14 friends Miss Annie F. Northup, daughter of Captain and Mrs. William J. T. Northup, announced her engagement to Mr. Walter H. Garrett of Chadds Ford, Pa. The table was decorated in red and green, the centrepiece being of red carnations, from which ribbons led to each plate, and as the ribbons were pulled little Cupids appeared bearing the name of Miss Northup and Mr. Garrett. After the supper there were vocal selections by Miss Marguerite Greason and Miss Florence Barker and piano selections by Miss Grace Anthony. Mr. Garrett is a graduate of Brown University in the class of 1913 and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. The wedding will take place in the early autumn.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE TO MEET IN SARATOGA.

The quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in Saratoga, N. Y., in 1916. The claims of Cincinnati and Atlantic City were carefully considered, but a majority of the 24 members of the committee present cast their votes for Saratoga.

The fixed date for the General Conference is May 1 of every fourth year, unless that date falls on Sunday. It falls on Monday in 1916, and the Conference will begin that day.

House on Bowen's Wharf Injured by Smoke and Some Fire.

At 11.12 this morning a still alarm was rung for what was supposed to be a tar fire in the rear of William Quigley's on Ferry wharf. It was supposed to be the result of trying to tar a roof. Before Combination 1 reached the scene Driver Wheeler of the patrol notified the firemen to go on Bowen's wharf, as that was the scene of the conflagration.

Up to that time no conflagration had been seen, but where there was so much smoke there must be some fire. Smoke was pouring from all parts of the three-story dwelling house on the north side of the wharf owned by the Bowen heirs and occupied above by Charles Goss and below by C. E. Waterman. When Chief Kirwin had made a hasty examination he decided that the roof was on fire and ordered Hose 1 down the wharf and the street roped off. It looked like the real thing. The smoke was growing thicker and there was every evidence of a good fire.

The men on Ferry wharf, however, had the right "dope." It was tar smoke, though it did not look so, from Bowen's wharf. The firemen finally found that a pot of tar had been put on the stove and whoever put it on had gone out. The fire did not go out, though the tar boiled out of the pot and on the stove and on the fire, and there was a mess most pleasant to contemplate. Any one can imagine that tar smoke is dark, but they should have been down at this fire really to appreciate how thick tar smoke can be. There was also one other opportunity; it was some years since, on Marlborough and Charles streets.

Finally the firement reached the bottom of things, but the fire had done some damage to the building, other than by smoke and as it was necessary to tear down some plastering the loss will be considerable. It would have been cheaper to have heated the tar in a regular kettle outdoors. It might be added that the tar was to tar lobster buoy ropes.

NEW YORK, April 20, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 72⅞, American Car Foundry 49½, American Smelting and Refining 66, American Sugar Refining 100¼, Anaconda 33⅜, Baltimore & Ohio 87⅝, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 90, Canadian Pacific 199, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 98, Colorado Fuel 28¾, Erie 27⅝, General Electric 144, Great Northern preferred 121½, Illinois Central 110, Missouri Pacific 19½, New York Central 87¼, Norfolk & Western 102⅝, Northern Pacific 109½, Pennsylvania 109½, Reading 161¾, Rock Island preferred 6¼, Southern Railway 24, Union Pacific 153⅜, United States Steel 57⅝, United States Steel preferred 108¼, Westinghouse Electric 72.

Noon—Low prices for the current decline were established in some of the popular trading shares before the market began to swing upward definitely. President Wilson's expression of hope that a conflict with Mexico might be averted helped in the rally which set in after the opening break. By noon the market had fully recovered, with small net gains in some cases. Continued cuts in crude oil prices caused stocks in the Standard Oil group to break sharply on the curb and affected the Petroleum shares dealt in on the Stock Exchange. There was heavy trading in some of the speculative bonds. Blocks of $5,000 to $200,000 of Southern Pacific convertibles of which $10,000,000 changed hands in 15 minutes, forced down the price to 100. Recently this issue was quoted at 103 1-2. Rock Island collaterals rose 2 points and then lost their gain. Bonds were irregular. Call money, steady, at 1½. Mercantile paper, 3½ and 4. Exchanges, $316,900,866; balances, $11,336,461.

BALCH OFF FOR MEXICO.

Navy Tug Pontiac Here for Torpedo Outfit for Battleship Texas.

The new destroyer Balch, which came here last week for her torpedo outfit, received orders Sunday and sailed for the naval centre off Mexico.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning navy tug Pontiac arrived at the Torpedo Station from the New York yard for the torpedo outfit for battleship Texas, which is being fitted out with all possible speed. Sixteen torpedoes with their accessories were taken on board during the forenoon. Under ordinary conditions the Texas would have come here for her outfit, but time is saved by sending the tug while the big ship is still in the hands of the yard force.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon there were still several cases to be put on board and it was impossible to state when the tug would be able to leave, as the weather is considered rather threatening for the small craft with such a cargo to start out. Each torpedo cased up weighs about a ton, it is said at the Station, and the outfit for each amounts to nearly a ton more.

Other than preparing this outfit for the Texas, little has been done at the Station today, for every man available for the duty has been engaged on it. The order came without warning and the entire outfit had to be boxed and otherwise prepared for safe transportation, there being no way for carrying missiles or handling them on board the tug other than in cases.

HERRING AND FLAT FISH.

Schooners and Local Boats Bound South for Mackerel Grounds.

Two mackerel schooners were in port Sunday, bound south—the Tecumseh and the Priscilla II. They were not the only ones to go south, for the Clara T., Captain Gus Larson, left this afternoon, just after dinner, for the mackerel grounds, and Captain Joe Travers in the Reliance will leave this evening. The Priscilla, Captain John Kelley; the St. Paul, Wood and Mack, Captain Kent; Thomas B. Congdon, Captain Peterson, and Little Addie, Captain Will Lath, came off the ways today and will soon be off. The Wood and Mack will go to Edgartown Tuesday for her gear and the Priscilla will probably sail south Wednesday.

It was so rough outside today that C. B. Anderson and C. A. Easterbrooks gave up the attempt to set traps outside.

Captain Burdick was over from Point Judith today with 30 barrels of herring and flatfish, the catch of eight traps. Sunday G. C. Sherburne and Everett Sherburne, from Woods Hole were in with more than 100 barrels of herring and flatfish. The shipping facilities at Woods Hole are so poor that they bring the fish here for shipment by boat, and say they will come again.

Manuel Ramos was in this morning with 1,000 herring and the first local, or native, shad of the season, caught at the Third beach.

Captain Jack Harrington has his boat here, ready to start lobstering. The local lobster season is on and the Greek restaurants are quick to advertise the fact.

JAMESTOWN.

Reminiscences and Anecdotes by Dr. Bates and Henry W. Clarke.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Before the most largely attended meeting ever held by the Jamestown Historical Society, Saturday afternoon at "Maplewood," Dr. W. L. Bates read an interesting paper on old Jamestown, giving a number of dates of local interest, including the first evidence of the summer boarder and the establishment of the ferries. He also gave many reminiscences of the Carr family. He was followed by remarks by Mr. Henry W. Clarke of Newport, who told a number of anecdotes. After the meeting a tea complimentary to Dr. Bates was given in the large dining hall by Mrs. Vial, Mrs. T. G. Carr and Mrs. F. Armbrust poured tea, assisted by Misses Harriet Knowles and Elizabeth Swinburne.

The work on a cellar for a bungalow on Narragansett avenue for Miss Jessie Knowles is well under way.

Mrs. Owen and family of Newport have arrived at her cottage on Shoreby Hill for the summer.

The blasts about noon Sunday on the fire alarm whistle were for a test, as some changes were being made to the storage battery.

C. E. Weeden has rented for Mrs. George L. Crawford of Merion, Pa., her cottage on the Dumplings to Mrs. J. B. Lennig of Philadelphia for the season of 1914.

Mrs. A. Goodman of Providence spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Clarke, on Narragansett avenue.

Miss L. Hayes and Miss Donohue of Boston were guests Sunday of Miss Mabel Peckham at her home on Howland avenue.

Mrs. M. A. Kern of Philadelphia has arrived at her cottage on Shoreby Hill for the summer.

ANNOUNCED AT SUPPER.

Miss Annie F. Northup's Engagement to Mr. Walter H. Garrett.

At a supper given Saturday evening at her home on Thurston avenue to 14 friends Miss Annie F. Northup, daughter of Captain and Mrs. William J. T. Northup, announced her engagement to Mr. Walter H. Garrett of Chadds Ford, Pa. The table was decorated in red and green, the centrepiece being of red carnations, from which ribbons led to each plate, and as the ribbons were pulled little Cupids appeared bearing the name of Miss Northup and Mr. Garrett. After the supper there were vocal selections by Miss Marguerite Greason and Miss Florence Barker and piano selections by Miss Grace Anthony. Mr. Garrett is a graduate of Brown University in the class of 1913 and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. The wedding will take place in the early autumn.

House on Bowen's Wharf Injured by Smoke and Some Fire.

At 11:12 this morning a still alarm was rung for what was supposed to be a tar fire in the rear of William Quigley's on Ferry wharf. It was supposed to be the result of trying to tar a roof. Before Combination 1 reached the scene Driver Wheeler of the patrol notified the firemen to go on Bowen's wharf, as that was the scene of the conflagration.

Up to that time no conflagration had been seen, but where there was so much smoke there must be some fire. Smoke was pouring from all parts of the three-story dwelling house on the north side of the wharf owned by the Bowen heirs and occupied above by Charles Goss and below by C. E. Waterman. When Chief Kirwin had made a hasty examination he decided that the roof was on fire and ordered Hose 1 down the wharf and the street roped off. It looked like the real thing. The smoke was growing thicker and there was every evidence of a good fire.

The men on Ferry wharf, however, had the right "dope." It was tar smoke, though it did not look so, from Bowen's wharf. The firemen finally found that a pot of tar had been put on the stove and whoever put it on had gone out. The fire did not go out, though the tar boiled out of the pot and on the stove and on the fire, and there was a mess most pleasant to contemplate. Any one can imagine that tar smoke is dark, but they should have been down at this fire really to appreciate how thick tar smoke can be. There was also one other opportunity; it was some years since, on Marlborough and Charles streets.

Finally the firement reached the bottom of things, but the fire had done some damage to the building other than by smoke and as it was necessary to tear down some plastering the loss will be considerable. It would have been cheaper to have heated the tar in a regular kettle outdoors. It might be added that the tar was to tar lobster buoy ropes.

Noon—Low prices for the current decline were established in some of the popular trading shares before the market began to swing upward definitely. President Wilson's expression of hope that a conflict with Mexico might be averted helped in the rally which set in after the opening break. By noon the market had fully recovered, with small net gains in some cases. Continued cuts in crude oil prices caused stocks in the Standard Oil group to break sharply on the curb and affected the Petroleum shares dealt in on the Stock Exchange. There was heavy trading in some of the speculative bonds. Blocks of $5,000 to $200,000 of Southern Pacific convertibles of which $1,000,000 changed hands in 15 minutes, forced down the price to 100. Recently this issue was quoted at 103 1-2. Rock Island collaterals rose 2 points and then lost their gain. Bonds were irregular. Call money, steady, at 1¾. Mercantile paper, 3½ and 4. Exchanges, $316,000,000; balances, $11,526,461.

O'CONNELL A BIG HIT.

Newport Star Plays at Rocky Point Although Transferred to Worcester

Nearly 200 Newporters were present at the base ball game between the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics and the Providence Grays at Rocky Point Sunday afternoon the Athletics winning 5 2 The Newporters made the journey expressly to see Ralph O'Connell the Newport star play O'Connell was transferred the day before to Worcester of the New England league but was inserted in the Providence line-up for the last three innings and was a big hit with the thousands of fans present, Oke receiving a big hand on his first appearance at the plate O'Connell did not have any chances in the field but made one of Providence's four hits on his only trip to the plate for which he received loud cheering

Philadelphia had its regular team in action with the exception of Boardman who is a pitching recruit Boardman was wild at times giving no less than eight bases on balls but excellent support behind him coupled with loose fielding on the part of Providence and several lusty hits by the famous sluggers put him out of all danger Home Run Baker did not make a hit and struck out once while the famous Eddie Collins also fanned

O'Connell will report in Worcester this week Manager Donovan of the Providence club is of the opinion that he needs a little more seasoning and sends him to Burkett under an optional agreement If O'Connell makes good he will be seen in the Providence uniform again at the end of the season

IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

Coroner William Shepley Injured in an Automobile Accident Saturday.

Brought Home as One Near Dead With a Scalp Wound Which Bled Profusely.

Coroner William Shepley is in a serious condition at his home as the result of an automobile accident at the north end of the island Saturday afternoon It is not yet known just how serious his injuries are but Dr Darrah thinks he will recover He was brought home as one supposed to be near dead with an extensive scalp wound from which he had bled profusely for four hours He did not recover consciousness until Sunday morning and it was not until late afternoon that his condition was such that it was possible to complete undressing him while today it cannot be assured that there are no internal injuries His whole body seems to have been at least severely strained by the shock

He was with Mr Fred W Greene in the latter's new automobile and the accident happened at Little Bridge on Park avenue This is the new state bridge at the foot of Buffum's hill Mr Greene says that as they were about to cross the bridge another machine coming in the opposite direction at considerable speed showed no signs of giving a portion of the road for passing and there was nothing to do to avoid a collision but turn off the road and go over the bank The other machine is said to have gone along without stopping It was daylight and from the toss Mr Shepley received and the completely wrecked condition of the new machine it would seem as if it had more momentum than the occupants realized It was a heavier machine than the one Mr Greene has been in the habit of driving

Mr Shepley was pitched through the glass wind shield and then turned completely over in his flight The heavy coat which he wore was stripped into shreds as if it had gone through a carding machine the glass made a cut across the forehead and another back far into the hair but no signs of a fractured skull were found before the wound was sewed up

Mr Greene is about today having been saved from being thrown by the steering wheel

It seemed to be felt at the scene of the accident that Mr Shepley had received mortal injuries and Dr Storrs who attended him there could do little for him While willing hands gathered it appeared to be impossible to find any way of bringing him to the city until the trolley express came along and he was taken into it and laid on the floor This car was met at the One Mile Corner shortly after [illegible] o'clock by the ambulance and the injured man was taken to his home where he was attended by Dr Darrah who spent the larger part of the night with him

Today he continues somewhat in a stupor and does not realize how badly he is injured He is lame all over to such an extent that he cannot move and this is assisting the doctor's orders for perfect quiet to be maintained It is not expected that he will be able to be about again for weeks

The machine will be returned to the factory for repairs and Mr Greene feels doubly fortunate in that Saturday he had just received his insurance policy on it

NEPHEW OF NEWPORT MAN.

Young Portuguese Admitted to United States by O'Shaunessy's Efforts

Congressman O'Shaunessy has succeeded in having admitted to the United States Antonio C [illegible] aged 17 years a native of Portugal who was coming to his uncle Jose F Silvora of this city The boy arrived at Providence on the Fabre line two weeks ago and was detained by the immigration officials of that city and taken to Boston where a special hearing was held at which it was decided to send him back to Portugal on account of the fact that he was under age and unaccompanied by an adult Several affidavits were submitted to the officials which were made by Newport citizens but the authorities persisted in their endeavor to send the boy back

The case was brought to the attention of Congressman O'Shaunessy and he had his secretary Lewis A McGowan appear before Secretary William B Wilson of the Labor Department at several hearings held in Washington last week where the case was pending on appeal A special hearing was also held in Boston to re investigate the matter The case was finally determined Saturday when Mr Silvera was notified by Congressman O'Shaunessy that Secretary Wilson had decided to admit the boy to the United States It is the intention of Mr Silvera to send him to school in this city Congressman O'Shaunessy has received a resolution of thanks from the Portuguese for his work in behalf of their kin

A NIP AND TUCK BATTLE.

Rogers Defeats the Strong St. George's Nine by Close Score of 6 to 5.

Base Ball Season Opened by One of the Proverbial Seventh-Inning Rallies.

After one of the proverbial seventh-inning rallies in which both teams scored heavily Rogers began its base ball season well Saturday afternoon at the Vernon Avenue playfield, when it subjugated the strong St George's nine in the first game between these rivals in years, by the close score of 6-5 Both teams participated in their first game, and although the strength of Rogers was not known the high school did not appear to have much show against St George's, the latter being the favorite because of its good record in seasons past and its squad of veterans

Rogers made a flying start in the first inning, and from that time on the battle was nip and tuck The high school team showed the greater speed on bases and by taking advantage of every opportunity was able to come out ahead although out batted by St George's The latter had chances to tie especially in the eighth and ninth innings when a runner reached third but on both occasions Cremin braced and kept the eager Middletown nine from the home plate

St George's rallied so well at the beginning of the seventh that they seemed to have the game bottled up Rogers behind was much more formidable than Rogers ahead and when the high school came up for their turn at bat they evened the number of runs made by St George's and then proceeded to recover their lead of one run which was maintained

While errors figured prominently in scoring several runs most of the tallies came as a result of good hits in the pinches making the game interesting all the way To atone for the misplays there were sensational catches which prevented sure hits and runs Connolly made an unassisted double play McElwaine made a sensational catch of Diggles's high liner to centre in the third but Diggles evened matters by an equally good catch off McElwaine Many of the stops and some of the throws for bases were more than ordinarily clever rapid fielding at times preventing threatened rallies

The Rogers team showed plenty of class all things being taken into consideration The errors made were nearly all excusable while the good stops more than evened these misplays

Cremin pitched one of his best games in every inning except the seventh when he faltered and allowed the St George's boys to solve his delivery for four runs which threw a scare into the Rogers supporters In all the other innings the Rogers twirler was all right and had not the infield weakened they would have won by a much larger margin On the other end of the battery George Denniston did his work in great style and was conspicuous in the scoring in the lucky seventh

The outfield made the banner catches The infield is practically the same which Rogers had all last season, with Connolly on the initial corner Pinto at the keystone sack, Arnold on the hot corner and Tubley at short Connolly made some great stops on first while Tubley's throwing arm aroused considerable praise Arnold was especially noticeable in the run getting tallying two of the six

St George's needs more practice several wild throws marring their otherwise good play At the bat they were strongest hitting the ball on long drives which either fell safe or into the outfielders gloves after a long chase In their seventh-inning rally they looked like sure winners but the hitting ability was not confined solely to their team, Rogers which had made but one hit previous to the seventh rallied brilliantly coupling three sturdy singles with two bases on balls and one error for four runs and the game

Cremin began the Rogers season well by fanning Curtis the first St George's batter and caused Duryea to pop up a weak fly to Pinto Three balls were called on Goodspeed the premier St George's athlete with no strikes but then Cremin showed his form and proceeded to fan Goodspeed on three pitched balls

Without the slightest semblance of a hit Rogers scored two runs in the first inning much to the surprise of the large crowd present Integlia reached first on Duryea's wild throw of his grounder, and then stole second and third in speedy fashion On Connolly's weak infield tap Integlia secured a long lead off third and came in with Rogers first run, while Connolly was thrown out at first Denniston was an easy out but Arnold reached first when Alderdice fumbled his grounder Arnold then stole second and third and scored when Goodspeed threw wild in an endeavor to catch him at third Pinto ended the inning by fanning Rogers had stolen four bases and scored two runs without a hit

St George's never really threatened until the fifth Lewis banged out his second single with one down He reached third on Haffner's single after Powel had fanned McDermott hit a grounder to Pinto who allowed it to slip through his legs and Lewis came in with the first run Haffner was caught trying to score on this play Connolly throwing to Denniston who nipped Haffner at the plate

With Rogers leading 2-1 when the seventh started McElwaine began the St George's rally by singling to left Alderdice flied out to Pinto but Lewis had a life on Pinto's error Powel drove out a hit tying the score, and then Cremin weakened Haffner made another single, scoring Powel McDermott went out Cremin to Connolly but Curtis sent Haffner across the pan with the fourth run of the inning Duryea made the third out flying to Pinto

With the score 5-2 against them Rogers showed their mettle making the feature rally of the game Tubley the first man up walked Cremin reached first on McDermott's wild throw to first Tubley going to second Integlia then walked for the third time filling the bags Connolly made the first out when he pop flied to McDermott With the bases full and one out Denniston smashed a clean single to centre scoring Tubley and Cremin Geraghty who was coaching on third, stopped Integlia rounding third base and Integlia was called out under the new rules Arnold however proved as reliable in a pinch and scored Denniston from second on his single to left. Pinto then sent across the winning run when he singled scoring Arnold from second Pinto going to second on the play

EVERYTHING READY.

Malley-Denison Company's Second Season Opening at Opera House.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Malley Denison Stock Company in 'Brewster's Millions' at the Opera House this evening, and when the curtain rises the second season of this combination of players will have been inaugurated This company came here a year ago and scored a hit by putting on a fine line of plays and presenting them in an excellent manner. It remained 24 weeks attracting large audiences and the indications are that the same thing will happen this time Messrs Malley & Denison have a good list of plays booked for the season and most of the principal members of the company have the advantage of being well established in the good will of the people while it probably will not take the new players long to find their way into the good graces of Newport theatre-goers

OPERA TOLD IN SONG.

"Il Trovatore" Outlined and Illustrated for Camp Fire Girls.

Before the Camp Fire Girls and their friends at the Civic League House Saturday evening Mrs. Alfred G. Langley gave an outline of the opera, "Il Trovatore," assisted by Mr. Langley, pianist; Miss Rosamond Langley, soprano, and Mr. Augustus Hazard Swan, baritone. Verdi's "Il Trovatore" is a well known and popular opera. An opera is a play in song, the story being told in song and the songs being sung to an orchestra. In grand opera, in which class "Il Trovatore" belongs, all the dialogue is sung. In opera are found recitatives, arias or airs, duets and quartets, and every leading voice has one full song.

Mrs. Langley gave an abstract of the opera, reading many of the songs, and Mr. Langley played illustrative music, including the well known "Anvil Chorus" and the "Miserere." Miss Langley, in a rich, full, expressive voice, sang in Italian "Upwards the flames roll," and in English the beautiful "Back to Our Mountains." Mr. Swan was heard to advantage in an Italian recitative and aria, "Il Balen."

Mrs. Langley spoke of the grand finale, in which all sing at once in solos and choruses different words. In "Il Trovatore" in the grand finale there are six singers and three sets of followers. Mrs. Langley's exposition of the opera was clear and interesting and the music was well rendered.

O'CONNELL A BIG HIT.

Newport Star Plays at Rocky Point Although Transferred to Worcester.

Nearly 200 Newporters were present at the base ball game between the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics and the Providence Grays at Rocky Point Sunday afternoon, the Athletics winning, 5-2. The Newporters made the journey expressly to see Ralph O'Connell, the Newport star, play. O'Connell was transferred the day before to Worcester of the New England league, but was inserted in the Providence line-up for the last three innings, and was a big hit with the thousands of fans present, "Oke" receiving a big hand on his first appearance at the plate. O'Connell did not have any chances in the field, but made one of Providence's four hits, on his only trip to the plate, for which he received loud cheering.

Philadelphia had its regular team in action, with the exception of Boardman, who is a pitching recruit. Boardman was wild at times, giving no less than eight bases on balls, but excellent support behind him, coupled with loose fielding on the part of Providence, and several lusty hits by the famous sluggers, put him out of all danger. "Home Run" Baker did not make a hit and struck out once, while the famous "Eddie" Collins also fanned.

O'Connell will report in Worcester this week. Manager Donovan of the Providence club is of the opinion that he needs a little more seasoning and sends him to Burkett under an optional agreement. If O'Connell makes good he will be seen in the Providence uniform again at the end of the season.

The spring meeting of the Channing conference will be held with the society at New London Tuesday and Wednesday, May 5 and 6. Meetings will begin Tuesday afternoon and continue through Tuesday evening and Wednesday forenoon. Tuesday evening, Rev. W. S. Swisher will be installed as minister of the New London society.

The expected list of speakers includes Rev. W. A. Sullivan of New York, Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham and Rev. Edward Cummings of Boston and Rev. John Coleman Adams and Rev. Charles Conklin, D. D., of the Universalist denomination. The New London society will entertain delegates over Tuesday night.

THE LAUNCHING OF THE RESOLUTE.

Invitations have been sent out for the launching of the cup defense candidate Resolute, at Bristol at 7 o'clock on the evening of April 25. This is an hour or more later than the time first proposed, as it was thought the tide would serve better in the evening. Instead of being lowered gently down a marine railway, as former cup defense candidates have been launched here, the Resolute will slide down greased ways.

The crew of the Resolute, on board tender Cape Cod, which is to be the crew's annex all summer, arrived at Bristol Sunday afternoon from New York, to prepare for going on board the craft as soon as she is launched and fitted out.

COTTAGE USED AS GAMBLERS' RESORT.

Mrs. W. Rogers Bonsal has found that "Overcome," her country villa at Lenox, has been occupied as a gambling resort during the winter. She found on arriving there recently that the library had been a rendezvous, furniture had been broken up and burned in a fireplace and bedding destroyed. Cards, chips and cigar ends were scattered over the rugs. Entrance had been made by forcing a window.

IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

Coroner William Shepley Injured in an Automobile Accident Saturday.

Brought Home as One Near Dead With a Scalp Wound Which Bled Profusely.

Coroner William Shepley is in a serious condition at his home as the result of an automobile accident at the north end of the Island Saturday afternoon. It is not yet known just how serious his injuries are, but Dr. Darrah thinks he will recover. He was brought home as one supposed to be near dead, with an extensive scalp wound, from which he had bled profusely for four hours. He did not recover consciousness until Sunday morning and it was not until late afternoon that his condition was such that it was possible to complete undressing him, while today it cannot be assured that there are no internal injuries. His whole body seems to have been at least severely strained by the shock.

He was with Mr. Fred W. Greene in the latter's new automobile and the accident happened at Little Bridge on Park avenue. This is the new state bridge at the foot of Buffum's hill. Mr. Greene says that, as they were about to cross the bridge, another machine coming in the opposite direction at considerable speed showed no signs of giving a portion of the road for passing and there was nothing to do to avoid a collision but turn off the road and go over the bank. The other machine is said to have gone along without stopping. It was daylight, and from the toss Mr. Shepley received and the completely wrecked condition of the new machine it would seem as if it had more momentum than the occupants realized. It was a heavier machine than the one Mr. Greene has been in the habit of driving.

Mr. Shepley was pitched through the glass wind shield and then turned completely over in his flight. The heavy coat which he wore was stripped into shreds, as if it had gone through a carding machine; the glass made a cut across the forehead and another back far into the hair, but no signs of a fractured skull were found before the wound was sewed up.

Mr. Greene is about today, having been saved from being thrown by the steering wheel.

It seemed to be felt at the scene of the accident that Mr. Shepley had received mortal injuries and Dr. Storrs, who attended him there, could do little for him. While willing hands gathered it appeared to be impossible to find any way of bringing him to the city until the trolley express came along, and he was taken into it and laid on the floor. This car was met at the One Mile Corner shortly after 7 o'clock by the ambulance and the injured man was taken to his home, where he was attended by Dr. Darrah, who spent the larger part of the night with him.

Today he continues somewhat in a stupor and does not realize how badly he is injured. He is lame all over to such an extent that he cannot move, and this is assisting the doctor's orders for perfect quiet to be maintained. It is not expected that he will be able to be about again for weeks.

The machine will be returned to the factory for repairs and Mr. Greene feels doubly fortunate in that Saturday he had just received his insurance policy on it.

NEPHEW OF NEWPORT MAN.

Young Portuguese Admitted to United States by O'Shaunessy's Efforts.

Congressman O'Shaunessy has succeeded in having admitted to the United States Antonio Goulart, aged 13 years, a native of Portugal, who was coming to his uncle, Jose F. Silvera, of this city. The boy arrived at Providence on the Fabre line two weeks ago and was detained by the immigration officials of that city and taken to Boston, where a special hearing was held, at which it was decided to send him back to Portugal on account of the fact that he was under age and unaccompanied by an adult. Several affidavits were submitted to the officials which were made by Newport citizens, but the authorities persisted in their endeavor to send the boy back.

The case was brought to the attention of Congressman O'Shaunessy and he had his secretary, Lewis A. McGowan, appear before Secretary William B. Wilson of the Labor Department at several hearings held in Washington last week, where the case was pending on appeal. A special hearing was also held in Boston to investigate the matter. The case was finally determined Saturday, when Mr. Silvera was notified by Congressman O'Shaunessy that Secretary Wilson had decided to admit the boy to the United States. It is the intention of Mr. Silvera to send him to school in this city. Congressman O'Shaunessy has received a resolution of thanks from the Portuguese for his work in behalf of their kin.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mr. George Andrews Moriarty and Miss Claudine H. Rice.

Mr. George Andrews Moriarty, who married Miss Mary A. Sheffield, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sheffield, died at the Sheffield mansion on Washington square early Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Moriarty had been residing at Newport since last autumn and Mr. Moriarty had been ill about three months. He was in his 68th year, a son of the late Dr. John Moseley and Nancy Page (Andrews) Moriarty of Boston, and is survived by a widow and a son, Mr. George A. Moriarty, Jr., who has been in the United States consular service and has recently spent considerable time in Newport, where he has been interested in historical matters.

Miss Claudine H. Rice died suddenly at her home on Horner street Sunday morning. She was the daughter of the late Isaac Rice, in his day perhaps the best known negro cook in Newport. When not engaged at the Gooseberry Island or some other fishing club in summer, he was at a hunting lodge in North Carolina in the winter. He died some years ago. She was a niece of Mr. George Rice and leaves two brothers, Frederick, formerly on the police force and Frank, of Jamestown. She was liked by all who knew her, and a well known singer.

FALL RIVER PRESSED HARD.

Wilkie the Hero of the Army and Navy Team in Close Track Meet.

The Army and Navy tried in vain to even its series with the Fall River Young Men's Christian Association track team Saturday evening at the local gymnasium, the Newporters losing in one of the best and closest track meets ever seen in this city, by a total score of 42-40. ADDRESS ON THE NEGRO IN THE SOUTH.

At the meeting of the Mt. Zion Literary Association Sunday afternoon Mr. Blake B. Young spoke on "The South," giving impressions gained during a recent trip in the Southern states of the condition of the negro in that section of the country. Mr. Young was optimistic regarding the advance the negroes are making in the South, particularly in their economical condition, in which they are making rapid strides in spite of the opposition of some of the political leaders. After the address Miss Edwina Jackson rendered a piano solo. Rev. W. H. Bath of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church will address the society at its next meeting.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS PEARSON.

Mrs. Frederick Pearson announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Josephine Southwick Pearson, to Beverley Rogers of New York. Miss Pearson, who was introduced to society several years ago, is the elder daughter of the late Commander Frederick Pearson, U. S. N., and a granddaughter of the late Mrs. James Cooke Ayer, who for many years lived in Paris. Her mother has a cottage, "Anglesea," on Ochre Point, where she has spent a portion of the summer each year. Mr. Rogers is a member of the Union and Racquet clubs and has been a frequent visitor in Newport. No date has been set for the wedding.

A NIP AND TUCK BATTLE.

Rogers Defeats the Strong St. George's Nine by Close Score of 6 to 5.

Base Ball Season Opened by One of the Proverbial Seventh-Inning Rallies.

After one of the proverbial seventh-inning rallies, in which both teams scored heavily, Rogers began its base ball season well Saturday afternoon at the Vernon Avenue playfield, when it subjugated the strong St George's nine in the first game between these rivals in years, by the close score of 6-5. Both teams participated in their first game, and although the strength of Rogers was not known the high school did not appear to have much show against St. George's, the latter being the favorite because of its good record in seasons past and its squad of veterans.

Rogers made a flying start in the first inning, and from that time on the battle was nip and tuck. The high school team showed the greater speed on bases, and by taking advantage of every opportunity was able to come out ahead, although out-batted by St. George's. The latter had chances to tie, especially in the eighth and ninth innings, when a runner reached third, but on both occasions Cremin braced and kept the eager Middletown nine from the home plate.

St. George's rallied so well at the beginning of the seventh that they seemed to have the game bottled up. Rogers behind was much more formidable than Rogers ahead, and when the high school came up for their turn at bat they evened the number of runs made by St. George's and then proceeded to recover their lead of one run, which was maintained.

While errors figured prominently in scoring several runs, most of the tallies came as a result of good hits in the pinches, making the game interesting all the way. To some for the displays there were sensational catches which prevented sure hits and runs. Connolly made an unassisted double play. McElwaine made a sensational catch of Diggles's high liner to centre in the third, but Diggles evened matters by an equally good catch off McElwaine. Many of the stops and some of the throws for bases were more than ordinarily clever, rapid fielding at times preventing threatened rallies.

The Rogers team showed plenty of class, all things being taken into consideration. The errors made were nearly all excusable, while the good stops more than evened these misplays.

Cremin pitched one of his best games in every inning except the seventh, when he faltered and allowed the St. George's boys to solve his delivery for four runs, which threw a scare into the Rogers supporters. In all the other innings the Rogers twirler was all right, and had not the infield weakened they would have won by a much larger margin. On the other end of the battery George Denniston did his work in great style and was conspicuous in the scoring in the lucky seventh.

The outfield made the banner catches. The infield is practically the same which Rogers had all last season, with Connolly on the initial corner, Pinto at the key-stone sack, Arnold on the hot corner, and Tubley at short. Connolly made some great stops on first, while Tubley's throwing arm aroused considerable praise. Arnold was especially noticeable in the run getting, tallying two of the six.

St. George's needs more practice, several wild throws marring their otherwise good play. At the bat they were strongest, hitting the ball on long drives which either fell safe or into the outfielders' gloves after a long chase. In their seventh inning rally they looked like sure winners, but the hitting ability was not confined solely to their team. Rogers, which had made but one hit previous to the seventh, rallied brilliantly, coupling three sturdy singles with two bases on balls and one error for four runs and the game.

Cremin began the Rogers season well by fanning Curtis, the first St. George's batter, and caused Duryea to pop up a weak fly to Pinto. Three balls were called on Goodspeed, the premier St. George's athlete, with no strikes, but then Cremin showed his form and proceeded to fan Goodspeed on three pitched balls.

Without the slightest semblance of a hit Rogers scored two runs in the first inning, much to the surprise of the large crowd present. Integlia reached first on Duryea's wild throw of his grounder, and then stole second and third in speedy fashion. On Connolly's weak infield tap Integlia secured a long lead off third, and came in with Rogers first run, while Connolly was thrown out at first. Denniston was an easy out, but Arnold reached first when Alderdice imbibed his grounder. Arnold then stole second and third, and scored when Goodspeed threw wild in an endeavor to catch him at third. Pinto ended the inning by fanning. Rogers had stolen four bases and scored two runs without a hit.

St. George's never really threatened until the fifth. Lewis banged out his second single with one down. One reached third on Haffner's single after Powel had fanned. McDermott hit a grounder to Pinto, who allowed it to slip through his legs, and Lewis came in with the first run. Haffner was caught trying to score on this play, Connolly throwing to Denniston, who nipped Haffner at the plate.

With Rogers leading, 2-1, when the seventh started, McElwaine began the St. George's rally by singling to left. Alderdice flied out to Pinto, but Lewis had a life on Pinto's error. Powel drove out a hit, tying the score, and then Cremin weakened. Haffner made another single, scoring Powel. McDermott went out, Cremin to Connolly, but Curtis sent Haffner across the pan with the fourth run of the inning. Duryea made the third out, flying to Pinto.

With the score 5-2 against them Rogers showed their mettle, making the feature rally of the game. Tubley, the first man up, walked. Cremin reached first on McDermott's wild throw to first. Tubley going to second. Integlia then walked for the third time, filling the bags. Connolly made the first out when he pop-flied to McDermott. With the bases full and one out Denniston smashed a clean single to centre, scoring Tubley and Cremin. Geraghty, who was coaching on third, stopped Integlia rounding third base, and Integlia was called out under the new rules. Arnold, however, proved as reliable in a pinch, and scored Denniston from second on his single to left. Pinto then sent across the winning run when he singled, scoring Arnold from second. Pinto going to second on the play.

THE DANSANTS RENEWED.

Many Entertain at Tea Tables in the Newly Decorated Hall.

After several weeks the The Dansantes conducted by Miss Helen Melville Weaver were renewed at Masonic hall Saturday afternoon, with a large attendance. The hall was attractive in its new decorations, in which white columns trimmed with English ivy and surmounted by baskets of flowers were a prominent feature.

Among those entertaining at the tea tables were Mrs. W. Rogers Morgan, Mrs. Walter S. Andrews, Mrs. J. J. Brown, Mrs. Roderick Terry, Miss Swift, Mrs. H. Goodwin MacKaye, Mrs. William B. Vernon, Miss Marguerite Mason, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Thomas V. Hart, Mrs. George A. Lang, Surgeon David B. Allen, Mrs. Charles B. Weaver and the Misses Weaver, Mr. Joseph G. Stevens, 2d., Mrs. J. Alton Barker and Miss Mildred Barker.

Miss Weaver brought back from New York the announcement that M. Sebastian, the celebrated dancing instructor, will come to Newport the coming summer to give dansantes in the Casino theatre.

EVERYTHING READY.

Malley-Denison Company's Second Season Opening at Opera House.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Malley-Denison Stock Company in "Brewster's Millions" at the Opera House this evening, and when the curtain rises the second season of this combination of players will have been inaugurated. This company came here a year ago and scored a hit by putting on a fine line of plays and presenting them in an excellent manner. It remained 24 weeks, attracting large audiences, and the indications are that the same thing will happen this time. Messrs. Malley & Denison have a good list of plays booked for the season and most of the principal members of the company have the advantage of being well established in the good will of the people, while it probably will not take the new players long to find their way into the good graces of Newport theatre-goers.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, held in their rooms on Thames street Sunday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months:

Vice President—Abraham Edelston (re-elected).
Recording Secretary—Gabriel Rosen.
Financial Secretary—Phillip Alberts.
Treasurer—Israel Smith.
Executive Board—Bernard Richards, Herman Podrat.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Harry Smith.

NEW MAIL PLAN IN EFFECT.

The new mail arrangements went into partial effect this morning; that is, they went into full effect so far as Monday morning permits. There will be no 11 o'clock mail in Sunday nights, and so the night clerk will be on duty only six nights a week. He was on Sunday night, just to start things in the new rut. There was of course the Sunday morning mail to look after, but this will be worked Sunday mornings, under the plan which has been adopted. Still the change demanded some preparatory work for this morning.

SHORT POLICE REPORT.

The police station report this morning, covering two days, was short. A man who had a touch of the deferium tremens was given a three days rest in jail. The man who was under observation because of his queer selections of places for sleeping was discharged, being apparently normal. A woman who had been at the hospital for treatment was declared insane and sent to the state asylum.

In addition, one lost boy returned to his home on Bliss road Saturday afternoon, and one shop door not locked, were reported.
